Macmillan Urges Negotiation Need

Stresses Firm Principles Upon Arrival in Canada

Ottawa—(AP)—Prime Minister Macmillan on his way to talks with President Eisenhower today urged the western powers to form a united policy on Germany based on "firm principles combined with a readiness to negotiate."

Macmillan arrived by plane from London. Before leaving tomorrow for Washington he will fill in Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and other Canadian officials on his Berlin crisis talks in Moscow with Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

Macmillan plans to see ailing U. S. Sec. of State Dulles at Walter Reed hospital before he meets with Eisenhower.

Diefenbaker and other officials were on hand to greet Macmillan, who led off his remarks with a tribute to Canadian Foreign Sec. Sidney Smith, who died unexpectedly yesterday.

The British government leader said it was generally accepted that east-west negotiations on Germany must take place this summer.

Speaking first in English and switching later to French, Macmillan said he went to Moscow to feel out the ground, and he believed he had attained success.

The British leader, accompanied by Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd, hopes to convince Eisenhower that a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev can solve the explosive Berlin situation without shooting.

Climax of Talks

Officials in Washington expressed belief Eisenhower's speech Monday, conditionally endorsing a summit meeting, had greatly improved the atmosphere for the talks with Macmillan. The president agreed to a top level meeting in the summer if a foreign ministers' conference on Germany proposed for mid-May gives promise that the government heads can agree on anything.

Macmillan's visit to Eisenhower will climax the series

Assembly Group For $173 Million Veterans Bonus

Madison—(AP)—The assembly veterans and military affairs committee recommended passage Wednesday of a $173,800,000 veterans bonus bill.

The Democrats control the committee, 5-4, but with two members absent to attend other hearings, the Republicans voted 4-3 for passage.

Democrats favor an interim study of the veterans bonus plan by the legislative council because of the high price tag on the bill.

It would authorize payment of a bonus up to $500 to an estimated 461,000 veterans of World War II and the Korean war.

The bill now goes to the joint committee on finance which also is controlled by Democrats.

Defends Military Aid Goal

Twining Sees Threat to Defense in Fund Cut

Washington—(AP)—The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff told congress today any cut in military foreign aid would kill hopes of modernizing and improving friendly forces receiving assistance.

Gen. Nathan F. Twining urged the house foreign affairs committee to approve President Eisenhower's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program, specifically its $1,600,000,000 military component.

Sec. of Defense Neil H. McElroy joined in support of the proposal, saying "it would be a critical mistake to curtail the program because of isolated instances of waste and inefficiency, representing a small percentage of the total."

Points to Formosa

McElroy said a "dramatic illustration" of the value of mutual aid was the nationalist Chinese fighting off of communist air attacks on Quemoy. If the nationalist forces had not been able to defend themselves, he said, "either Quemoy would have been lost or we would have found ourselves engaged in war with the aggressing communists."

Twining said, "any limitations or reductions in the program would virtually eliminate all modernization and force improvement needed to accomplish the military assistance program force objectives."

Rep. Wayne L. Hays (D-Ohio) said in advance of the hearing that he felt the defense chiefs should be questioned about what kind of war the United States would fight if the Berlin crisis exploded.

Hays, a committee member, said he wanted to question the military officials "to clarify President Eisenhower's apparent statement that we would not use ground troops in Europe."

Hays said this statement at an Eisenhower news conference, coupled with earlier administration statements that the United States would not fire the first intercontinental ballistic missile "might be taken as a blank check."

"I don't think the president meant that," Hays said, "but it seems to me he may well be misunderstood by (Soviet Premier Nikita) Khrushchev. I think it would be very dangerous to leave things as confused as they are now."

Repairman Accused Of Strangling Wife

Atlanta—(AP)—An appliance repairman was held on a murder warrant today in connection with the Venetian cord strangling of his wife whose decomposed body was found in a shallow grave near a suburban highway.

The warrant was issued last night a few hours after Paul Coats, 35, was picked up for questioning in the case.

The body of Mrs. Frances Jane Coats, 33, of nearby Chamblee, was discovered in the grave yesterday more than four months after she disappeared from her home.

Police said a double-strand cord from a Venetian blind had been wrapped four times around the neck of the attractive mother of three small children.

Eisenhower Signs Bill To Make Hawaii State

Khrushchev Can't Succeed in Plan To Panic West

Foreign Ministers Meeting Could Mean Fresh Start in Germany

BY HARRY S. TRUMAN

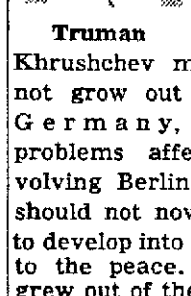

I hope that Khrushchev is beginning to realize he cannot succeed in his current campaign to panic the west.

If Khrushchev and the Kremlin really want peace—peace is easily attainable, and they know it.

The cold war, whatever Khrushchev may claim, did not grow out of Berlin and Germany, and, therefore, problems affecting and involving Berlin and Germany should not now be permitted to develop into a serious threat to the peace. The cold war grew out of the fact that Russia refused to stand by agreements made at Yalta and Potsdam.

Khrushchev's diplomatic tactics and his sudden and calculated shifts of position are intended to confuse and divide us from our allies under the NATO treaty and to divert world attention from the Soviet Union's military occupation of her neighbors.

The Kremlin's expressed concern over the allied occupation of West Berlin is sheer mockery in the face of the continued occupation by the Soviets of East Berlin, East Germany, Hungary, Poland, Rumania, Bulgaria and Czechoslovakia.

Truman

Let us not permit Khrushchev to take the problems of the world to the problems of the world.

Vote Cut in Fund Measure

Committee Favors 1 Per Cent Less For Departments

Washington—(AP)—The house appropriations committee today made a nominal cut of slightly more than 1 percent in the first big money bill affecting President Eisenhower's 1960 budget.

It recommended, subject to later house action, total new funds of $4,628,097,000 to operate the treasury and post office departments and the tax court for the government year starting next July 1.

This is $60,230,000 less than the president requested but $518,339,000 more than current year appropriations. Most of the boost was attributed to pay raises voted last summer.

Sen. Kennedy Will Speak in Appleton April 11

Madison—(AP)—Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) will land at Austin Straubel field in Green Bay April 11 and speak in Appleton that night during a weekend stay in Wisconsin.

The tentative schedule for the Fox valley portion of Kennedy's swing through the state was announced here by Patrick Lucey, state Democratic chairman. Kennedy also is expected to make stops in Milwaukee, Madison, Janesville, and Sheboygan.

U. S. Agrees on Loan To Indonesian Regime

Jakarta, Indonesia—(AP)—The United States today agreed to lend Indonesia $70,800,000 in rupees the Indonesians have paid for surplus American food.

The agreement was signed by Indonesian Finance Minister Sutikno Slamet and U. S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones.

The loan was made under the conditions of the U. S.-Indonesian agriculture commodities sales agreement of 1956. It specified products Indonesia purchases from the United States would be paid in rupees and that most of these would then be loaned to this country for economic development.

Parolee Held In Kidnaping At La Crosse

Victim Tips Off Filling Station Worker in St. Paul

La Crosse—(AP)—A parolee whom Police Chief George Long said had sought vainly to kindle a romantic interest in a La Crosse woman burst into her home Tuesday night, assaulted her husband and forced him at gunpoint to drive him away in his car.

The convict, paroled from prison at Waupun only Tuesday morning, was apprehended at St. Paul, Minn., when his captive passed word to a filling station attendant. Chief Long said the FBI informed him the convict would face a kidnapping charge under the Lindbergh law.

Chief Long identified the convict as 24-year-old William "Bucky" Birnbaum of La Crosse. The kidnap victim was Paul Scott, 28, a bus and cab driver.

Birnbaum was sentenced to prison in March, 1955, on a charge of breaking and entering.

Proclamation to Wait Until Voters Approve Terms of Admission

Washington—(AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the bill to make Hawaii the fiftieth state.

With the bill's signing, Hawaii could, by taking fast action, get officially into the Union by next July. This would be in time to send members to the present session of congress. October is more likely, however. It took six months to add Alaska's forty-ninth star to the flag on Jan. 3.

Eisenhower said it gave him great satisfaction to sign the measure. He recalled that he had been urging statehood for Hawaii since he became president, and added: "Under this legislation, the citizens of Hawaii will soon decide whether their islands shall become our fiftieth state. In so doing, they will demonstrate anew to the world the vitality of the principles of freedom and self-determination—the principles upon which this nation was founded 172 years ago."

Says Ireland Will Work for World Peace

President Addresses Joint Session of American Congress

Washington — (AP) — President Sean T. O'Kelly of Ireland told a joint session of congress today Ireland will work "to dissipate unnecessary suspicions" among nations of the world.

The 76-year-old Irish president, the first to make an official U.S. visit, said: "One of the dangers that confront mankind is an exacerbated antagonism between the so-called colonial and anti-colonial countries."

"As well as being a European country, Ireland is also a country with a long and a well-known history of stubborn resistance to foreign rule."

"In that position Ireland can hope to play in the United Nations and elsewhere a useful part, by helping to dissipate unnecessary suspicions, and seeking to create a better climate for international understanding."

Proudest Experience

O'Kelly, whom President Eisenhower greeted yesterday as "the president of all of us," said his appearance before congress "is among the proudest experiences of my life."

He recalled that Charles Stewart Parnell, the Irish patriot, addressed congress in 1890. He said Parnell took back to Ireland the knowledge that "America as a whole, represented in congress, looked with sympathy on Ireland's struggle for freedom."

O'Kelly said Ireland still faces "the great and challenging problem of partition," with six northern counties loyal to Britain.

But this is not the only problem Ireland faces, he said.

Even so, he added, Ireland has become "one of the best fed nations in the world." And in the arts "there is vigor and movement," he said.

Death 'Outdraws' Old Western Train Robber

Bill LaTrasse Dead at 77; One of the Last of Oldtime Kansas Holdup Artists

Denver — (AP) — Bill LaTrasse, 77, one of the last of the old-time train robbers, is dead.

After spending more than half his life in prison, LaTrasse died a free man Monday night.

Released from the Kansas penitentiary last Dec. 30, LaTrasse immediately came to Denver to live with a sister, Mrs. Edna Shelton.

But he soon became ill and 10 days ago he entered a Denver hospital. A kidney ailment took his life.

LaTrasse made his reputation on Christmas night, 1910, when he held up a Missouri Pacific train between Kansas City and Leavenworth, Kan. He pushed a frightened porter ahead of him through the cars and robbed the passengers of $2,000.

Escaped in 1915

Captured and sent to the Kansas prison, he escaped in 1915. Then followed a Chicago robbery, a battlefield wound in World War I, another arrest and the completion of his prison term.

LaTrasse made an effort to go straight and opened a shoe repair business in Kansas City. But the experiment ended with a holdup of a gambling game and he went to the Missouri prison. Released, he went back to the Kansas prison after two men were shot in a holdup of a dice game at Parsons, Kan., in 1942. This time it was for life.

LaTrasse escaped again, but he soon was caught, a sick and broken old man.

During his years in prison, his mother, Mrs. Ellen Delphine LaTrasse, burned a light in a window of her Kansas City, Kan., house for the time when "my Willie" comes home.

She scrubbed endless miles of floors and saved $1,800 to give to LaTrasse when he finished his first prison term.

Smith, 62, apparently died of a heart attack. His body was found by his wife in their apartment where he was resting before going to the house of commons. He had complained of not feeling well.

Both the commons and the senate recessed for the day after Prime Minister Diefenbaker announced the death.

Funeral services were not complete early today, but it is customary to hold state funerals for cabinet ministers who die in office.

Smith was a leading university administrator before becoming foreign minister 18 months ago, after the first national conservative victory in 22 years.

Brothers Want To Tell About Gang Meeting

Reverse Stand on Underworld Rally In Apalachin, N. Y.

New York — (AP) — Two brothers have sent word through their lawyer that they want to testify before the state investigation commission about the Apalachin, N. Y., gang-land convention.

The sudden switch was announced by the lawyer for Frank Valenti, 36, and Costenze Valenti, 32, both of Rochester, N. Y.

The Valenti brothers and five other men have been in jail here since last August for clammung up when called as witnesses before the commission.

All seven balky witnesses are listed by authorities among the 60-odd underworld figures and associates who attended the meeting Nov. 14, 1957.

The seven were given indefinite jail terms for contempt. The plan has been to keep them in jail until they answer questions.

The Valenti brothers' lawyer, Gilbert S. Rosenthal, announced yesterday that they were ready to testify.

"They are extremely anxious to obtain their release as soon as possible so that they may rejoin their families in Rochester," the lawyer said.

The brothers are expected to get an opportunity to testify within a week.

Jacob Grumet, chairman of the investigation commission, said of their change of heart:

Tell the Truth

"We have been waiting for months for these men to come forward and tell the truth. But we must be satisfied that they are telling the truth and not giving us fairy tales."

The seven balky witnesses were sent to jail on state supreme court orders obtained by the commission. The commission offered them immunity from prosecution in New York state courts on the basis of anything they might tell the commission. But the witnesses contended the immunity was not broad enough.

The commission started the jail treatment for clammung witnesses as it pressed for a first behind-the-scenes account of what went on when the underworld big shots powwowed at Apalachin.

Rojas Pinella came to power by a military coup in 1953 and was overthrown four years later. He returned voluntarily to Columbia from exile in Spain and the Canary islands and almost immediately was put on trial before the senate Jan. 22.

Eight Governors to Meet With President On Jobless Pay Issue

Hope to Explore Ways to Brace Regular Compensation Program

Washington — (AP) — Governors of eight states and Hawaii have been invited to meet with President Eisenhower Monday to discuss jobless pay.

In announcing the invitations yesterday, the White House said only that the purpose of the meeting is to explore "ways to strengthen the regular federal-state unemployment compensation program."

In addition to Hawaii's governor, the invitations went to the chief executives of Florida, Illinois, Mississippi, New Jersey, West Virginia, North Dakota, Utah and Colorado.

All nine are members of the executive committee of the national governors conference.

consideration of the house bill to the floor promptly, his committee will send the bill to the floor promptly, probably without public hearings.

Unless the bill is passed before congress begins its Easter recess late next week, the temporary program will have expired before the senate can act to extend it. Congress reconvenes April 6.

The house bill would extend the temporary federal program of extra jobless benefits for three months to next June 30. Under the extension, federal payments would be made to unemployed persons who become eligible before April 1 but not to any new workers who become jobless after that date.

Temporary Program

And, as is the case at present, only workers living in states that have elected to participate in the temporary federal program could draw benefits.

In their letter to Byrd, the 18 senators said latest official figures show 4,749,000 persons unemployed and they said there is little prospect for improvement.

Totally Inadequate

On Capitol Hill, meanwhile, 18 Democratic senators described the jobless pay extension bill passed by the house Monday as "almost totally inadequate."

In a letter to Chairman Harry F. Byrd (D-Va) of the senate finance committee they called for committee hearings on ways to do more for the unemployed.

Byrd has set Friday for

Canine Name Raises Human Rumpus, Dog Unconcerned

New York —(P)—The complexities of television, advertising and people have caught up with a dog that is—or has been—named Steverino.

The focal question is: Does a canine have to switch names when a sponsor switches television channels?

A press conference on the doggy rumpus was held today. There was plenty of human talk. But the spotlight beamed herself, a 58-pound greyhound, garbed in rhinestone tiara and matching collar, lay yawning on a felt-top table.

Name Must Stay

"Every dog has always been protected," averred Roy Lee, Clay Center, Kans. "We just don't stand for anyone mistreating a canine. It would tear her all to pieces if she lost her name."

Rising in support was Dr. Abraham Barton, a veterinarian.

"She's conditioned to respond to her name," he said, adding that it is impossible to forecast "just how severe a traumatic experience" would result from any change.

An advertising agency representative spoke up.

"Our line has spent a million dollars in developing the dog's identity over two years on television," he said, "by signed by about 35 Rawlins residents, urging him to support a bill being considered. Among the signatures was his own name. He hadn't signed the petition.

Solen Finds Name, Never Signed Paper

Chesapeake, Wyo. —(P)— State Sen. Elmer Kinnaman took a dim view of some lobbying the Wyoming legislature.

He received a telegram, depriving the dog of its rightful name, you deprive her of identity."

Steve Allen to Sue

The name issue developed when the firm decided to withdraw as a sponsor of the Steve Allen Sunday night show over the NBC network, and link up with the Jack Benny show on CBS starting March 18.

The Allen office threatened legal action if the dog kept using the name, which happens also to be one of Allen's nicknames.

Lee, who bred the dog and is an officer of the National Coursing association, in Abilene, Kans., insisted at the press conference that the greyhound got the name when she was just a puppy and is so registered.

The association lists the identity of 550,000 dogs, he said, and has never condoned a switch.

Steverino just flicked an ear as camera flash bulbs went off and the talk went on.

NEW FROM ALLSTATE... the company founded by Sears

Sickness, Accident and Hospital Insurance

- to protect you against today's inflated cost of medical care
- to help replace income you lose because you're sick or hurt
- to help provide for your family if you're killed in an accident

New Selector Plan lets you choose the exact type and amount of protection that's right for your needs—and your budget!

In the few minutes it takes to read this important message, sickness or accident will disable 600 people. Of these, 100 will be admitted to the hospital. Each will face a daily charge averaging $25 for basic care alone.

Even more shocking: while more than half our people have some form of health insurance, on the average it has paid only 30 cents of every dollar of their sickness and accident bills.

Most families are not aware how inflation has watered down the value of the policies they now have. Too many take for granted that having "some insurance" or workmen's compensation is all the protection they need. It is a tragic fact that today only 1 family in 10 is financially protected against the ruinous costs of lingering illness or serious accident.

Too many people risk going along with what they have because they assume that rising costs have priced adequate coverage beyond their reach.

But now Allstate's Accident and Sickness Insurance helps you solve these problems—at a cost you can afford.

WHAT THIS NEW POLICY BRINGS YOU

Here, in one flexible policy, you will find a broad selection of top-value coverages. You can select exactly the protection you need to close the gaps in your present insurance—at surprisingly little cost. This sensible plan lets you buy only what you need, without waste or duplication—pays in addition to any insurance you may now have. Or if you have no protection, it can be used as a sound basis plan.

Here Are A Few Of The Ways Allstate's New Plan Could Fit Your Needs:

YOU MAY NOW HAVE
 An employer or group plan that would pay you only for a few months after accident or sickness disables you.

YOU SHOULD HAVE
 An Allstate coverage that will pay you a monthly, tax-free income so you can provide for your family's living expenses while you are disabled. (Maximum: 5 years if totally disabled from sickness; for life if totally disabled from accident; 6-month limit for partial disability.) You can select the amount of income protection you want up to $400 a month for total disability—up to $200 a month for partial disability.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE
 A basic hospitalization plan which may pay you for only a few weeks.

YOU SHOULD HAVE
 An Allstate coverage that will begin paying after your present policy stops, to give you protection against in-hospital expenses of serious, drawn-out illness or disability... that pays 75% of hospital expenses for as long as 2 years for each accident or illness for each member of your family. (Maximum payment: $6,000 per person.) Or you can strengthen your basic hospitalization plan with an Allstate coverage that will pay daily hospital expenses in addition to the protection you now have.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE
 Insurance with relatively few benefits—that pays only a small part of the actual costs of a long, lingering disability.

YOU SHOULD HAVE
 An Allstate coverage that helps you with the major expenses of doctor, surgeon (including specialist) care, nursing costs and many other medical services.

YOU MAY NOW HAVE
 Savings that could keep your family going for 6 months or a year if you were killed in an accident.

YOU SHOULD HAVE
 An Allstate coverage that pays $15,000 cash if you are killed in practically any type of accident. Pays in addition to any other payments made by this policy.

Allstate's modern approach to today's most needed, least understood kind of insurance brings you these special advantages:

- 1. New sensible "Selector Plan." Allstate fits the insurance to your needs. You buy what you need, without waste or duplication. Your Allstate Agent is a thoroughly trained, licensed, professional insurance man who will help you choose the protection that is exactly right for your needs.
- 2. Sears kind of value. Allstate was founded by Sears and won more than 4 million friends with the same big-volume, low-overhead, quality-for-less way of doing business that made Sears famous.
- 3. Proven dependability. Allstate revolutionized auto insurance by cutting red tape, and settling claims fast, the modern efficient way. Allstate's Accident and Sickness Insurance is backed by the same conservative approach to claims service.

It's human nature to put it off . . . but don't! The average man is disabled 17 times during his lifetime. Facing odds like these, you owe it to yourself to get the facts.

Title Roles Assigned For Fibber, Molly Show

CBS-TV Tries Kurt Kasznar in Pilot Film Based on 'Nero Wolfe' Stories

BY JINGO
Bob Sweeney and Cathy Lewis will play the title roles in "Fibber McGee and Molly" when NBC-TV brings the old radio series to television next fall.

Sweeney is a former partner of Hal March—remember him?—and had parts in the "My Favorite Husband," "Our Miss Brooks" and "The Brothers" TV series. Miss Lewis is best remembered for her co-starring bit opposite Marie Wilson in the TV and radio series, "My Friend Irma."

Hal Peary, "The Great Gildersleeve," who had "voice" roles in the "Fibber and Molly" radio series, will play Mayor LaTrivia.

Filming of a pilot show for a projected half-hour series based on Rex Stout's popular "Nero Wolfe" detective stories began this week in New York.

Kurt Kasznar has the title role of the dilettante-detective. William Shatner will play his young, breezy colleague.

If it hits, the series will go into the CBS-TV program line-up.

"The Oldsmobile Theater," an adventure-music series, starts at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, March 26, on NBC-TV.

Jackie Cooper and Genevieve head a first night cast for "A Nice Place to Hide," story of an exchange student working in a midwest library who falls in love with a wayfaring stranger.

Bill Hayes and Florence Henderson, who will serve as host and hostess of the series, will appear alone or together in several of the 13 episodes. Well known stars will be used each week otherwise.

NBC-TV has announced that MGM-TV is producing a 1-hour filmed suspense series for the network's use next season. It will be based on actual news stories. . . . Robert Trout will premiere a CBS-TV news show, "The

'Tombstone Territory' Makes TV Comeback

Hollywood — Are TV westerns losing favor? Nope.

Here's one that rose out of the dust after being gunned down.

It's "Tombstone Territory," which made a return to ABC and looks good to continue its ride on the TV range. A lot of folks were surprised when the show was canceled last year.

"So was I," admitted young Pat Conway, who co-stars with Richard Eastham on the series.

Music business is a big business today.

It's the young adult market Cole will be aiming at in his new album. Songs were picked from the 50 to 60 new numbers he sees weekly. It will take its title from a piece he wrote with his sister-in-law, Charlotte Hawkins, called "To Whom it May Concern."

series. "The show had gotten good reviews and the ratings were okay. But we got caught in the middle of a shuffle of the advertising agencies that handled the sponsor."

When the show was dropped, producers went ahead with 13 more films with the notion of syndicating the total of 52. But network interest revived, and "Tombstone Territory" may well continue for several more seasons.

Marines Going Soft?
Parris Island, S. C. — Marines who like to boast about the "old corps" won't believe this.

Air conditioned classrooms have been installed in three battalions at this Marine recruit depot, which is well known for its torrid, sticky summer days.

It's part of the depot's so-called new look program, a far cry from the days of the "old corps."

TV Takes to British Touch

There's Reason for It, American Drama Too Controversial

BY CHARLES MERCER

New York — Some body was asking the other day why so many British actors and actresses are appearing on television.

The answer in most cases is that their accents are desired because so many British dramas are appearing on television.

Look at the playbill: "Berkley Square," "What Every Woman Knows," "The Winslow Boy," "Ten Little Indians," "Hamlet," etc., etc., "Du Pont Show of the Month" has presented only one contemporary American play, "Harvey," with the exception of its well-done "The Lonely Heart," which was as British in its values and feeling as Buckingham palace.

Some of the British-born offerings have been excellent. But the question remains: Why is television doing so many of them?

Basic Difference
A typical example of a well-made, sturdy British play is "The Winslow Boy," which made some solid dramatic statements on matters of faith and loyalty and justice. Fredric March said he was happy to appear in its TV version for just those reasons and because—unlike so many teleplays—it had a third act.

But those characteristics are not the hallmark only of British plays. Equally fine craftsmanship and dramatic statements were to be found in such an excellent original teleplay as J. P. Miller's "The Years of Wine and Roses" on "Playhouse 90."

A basic difference between British and American drama is that ours tends to be more controversial. Nina Foch, a most articulate actress, has suggested that is because we're still a pioneer country with a fluid social structure in which some elements are battling other elements.

Troubles Obvious
In dramatic terms, how can you tell a good story if you don't have a good controversy? In television terms, how can you have a good controversy if you have a sponsor?

"Playhouse 90" has managed it frequently, but others shy away from it.

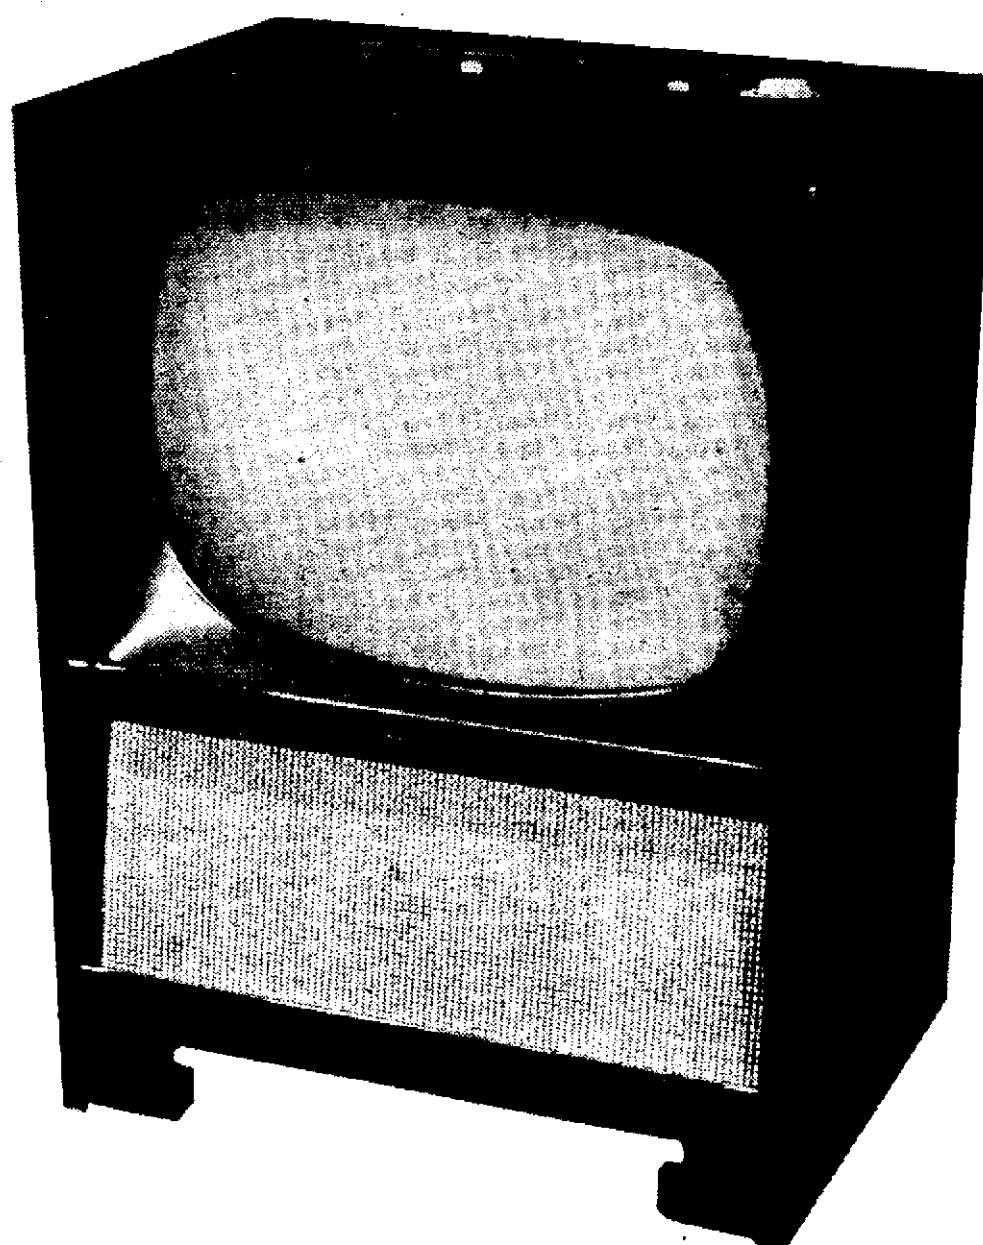

And that is why we're seeking a date for bike registrations will be set later after travel conditions improve.

Registration of Bikes Delayed By Snowy Streets

The annual spring bicycle registration has been postponed indefinitely because of the hazardous condition of Appleton streets, Police Chief Walter J. Hendricks said today.

Registrations usually are handled during the school spring recess, which begins March 26. Hendricks noted children and other bicycle owners are required to bring their vehicles to the station for inspection before licenses are issued. Snow and ice would make bicycle traveling dangerous, the chief said, so a date for bike registrations will be set later after travel conditions improve.

Nat King Cole Says Music Field Invaded

BY LEONARD G. MILLMAN

San Francisco — Good songs are still being written in this rock 'n roll era, but the public rarely gets to hear them.

So says Nat King Cole, who has been riding high in the popular music world for 20 years and finds Nat King Cole things aren't what they used to be.

"It doesn't take talent any more to become popular," the singer told a news conference yesterday. "It takes connections and push."

"They don't build performers like they did in my day. (Cole will be 40 Tuesday.)"

Field Invaded
"The young kids (popular with the rock 'n roll set) don't owe their thanks to the public they owe them to the juke box operators."

"Juke boxes and the record companies—they're the ones that are killing us off."

"Our field is being invaded upon. Song writers are being brain washed. A guy with good songs, where's he going to take them?"

Cole, who describes himself as "a man with musical integrity," says he may have a partial answer.

New Album

"My next album is going to be all new songs." It was cut last summer and scheduled for the market in May while Cole is on a South American tour.

"This has never been tried before in the commercial market," Cole said.

It just could be a new thing in the record world for, as Cole says, "I'm a businessman, too, don't forget that."

Some Schools are too Small

Superintendent of Public Instruction George Watson has most definitely read Dr. James Conant's The American High School Today which asks for "imaginative leadership" at the state level to do away with the too small, inefficient and expensive high schools. But Mr. Watson also is aware that most of the prodding will have to come from the parents of students who may be educationally short-changed in the little schools.

Wisconsin's Department of Public Instruction has frowned about high schools with less than 150 pupils; Dr. Conant sets the minimum as 100 per graduating class or close to 500 in a 4-year high school. Wisconsin has nowhere near the number of small high schools or the percentage of pupils attending those which Dr. Conant feels are below the standard as many other states. There are nine high schools with less than 50 students in the state and about 50 more with less than 100 in attendance.

By no means does the size of the school qualify it educationally. The majority of city high schools in Wisconsin, for instance, still offer only two years of a foreign language although most experts concede that three and preferably four years of one language is essential to a minimum grasp of the subject. But the small schools are less able to offer the variety of subject matter, the remedial and advanced courses, the real opportunities in several fields of education which the larger school can do efficiently.

For instance, the majority of Wisconsin's small schools are in rural areas. Mr. Watson reports that 36 of these schools with enrollments of less than 150 have no agriculture course, and 23 have no home economics, although it would appear that these courses would have real value to the farm youngsters. The lack in fields of less demand is even more apparent; 42 have no industrial art and 112 have no foreign language at all. And yet more and more rural graduates are looking for work in the cities or going on to college!

Financially it is easy to see why the small schools cost more. Even with a smaller offering of subject choice, the cost per pupil must be high. A teacher in English who could do an excellent job with 100 pupils in four classes is paid the same for working with 60. And how can a school justify a third year of foreign language if only six students are enrolled in the second year course? How much is lost, discussion-wise, in a class in American history or American problems if the class has only ten students?

In sparsely settled areas of the state or nation, of course, this problem cannot be solved. There are just so many miles that can be covered by school buses. But a state law requiring rural districts to be attached to a district containing a high school might lead toward consolidation. So could a statute legalizing the metropolitan school district although this poses other problems related to the city surrounded by outlying and partly parasitic suburbs.

It may be that there are some schools that are too large just as there are some that are too small, and quality is lost in regimentation and the always present dangers of bureaucratic bungling. The personal contact among parent, student, teacher and administration in small schools is one reason why there has been little agitation from the public for any immediate solution. But increasing costs and emphasis on improvement of educational opportunities may spell the doom of the really small schools.

Juveniles Make Problems for Adults

David Campanella, 15, son of the former Brooklyn Dodger, Roy Campanella, has been sent home by the Juvenile court in parole to his mother. Nothing further will be done about the matter until April 10 when court will have reports from social agency experts and psychiatrists. His conduct in the meantime will have an important bearing on the decision according to Children's Court Justice Sylvia Liese who is handling the matter.

There can be no doubt that David's case received nationwide publicity not because of the seriousness of his actions but because he was the son of the famous baseball player. First of all, he was picked up for getting into a fist fight with a group of boys. Under questioning by the police he admitted that he had taken part in a drug-store burglary about St. Valentine's day. The burglars had kicked in a plate glass door and walked off with $9, 35 packs of cigarettes and two tubes of toothpaste. David's story is that he entered the store on a dare but did not take anything.

The question of what should have been done with reference to publication of the name of this young boy was discussed recently at a conference of editors and judges called by the National Probation and Parole association to discuss juvenile court problems. At the conference were representatives of four New York newspapers and others from newspapers at Wilmington, Delaware; Buffalo, Louisville, as well as important officials of the press associations.

Generally speaking, the newspapermen favored the publication of names in such stories although not all of them did. Others who opposed it were joined by the judges of courts in Washington, New Jersey, New York, Rhode Island and Pennsylvania but not all of the judges were agreed on what should be done in such matters either. Those who attempted to justify the publication of the boy's name did so largely on the claim that publication of names does tend to curb juvenile delinquents and because the public is entitled to know what is going on in their courts for as one spokesman put it: "We are not protecting the public if we don't use names. A 12-year-old can kill you as dead as an adult." Another spokesman for those favoring publication said: "There are sex offenders who haven't been named in newspapers who are running around loose and many mothers are quite worried about their daughters' safety." Those opposed to publishing names in such instances denied that publicity is a deterrent to crime and they asked why it hasn't "deterred crime in the 18 to 20-year-old groups who are the worst offenders and have the most publicity." Others merely declared that they could not see how publication of any child's name in a newspaper could help the child. In answer to all this a newspaper editor said that he has "never seen any statistics to prove using names does damage." Finally the chairman of the meeting summarized the discussion with this statement: "The truth is none of us know what is right or wrong. Many papers call up the judge when they are confused — but sometimes he is as confused as we are." On that note the parley ended and there in the record we have presumably the thinking of newspapers and the welfare workers and the judges on what to do about the problem.

The fact is that no one does know what to do. And without any sure knowledge we attempt to legislate with the result that we often get laws that do more harm than good. News is a strange commodity. One strange thing about it is that if news is big enough it cannot be suppressed no matter what the law or any person says about it. Those who read the Campanella story and then declared that it should not have been published are in a strange position. What they are saying is that they do not hold David's delinquency against him but that they are sure others will and for that reason the others are not entitled to know the facts in the case. How can they possibly justify such a stand?

Non-Skiers Must Go!

The issue is now clearly drawn between skiers and non-skiers here in Wisconsin.

The pressure has been building up over the last several years as this area of the state went through almost snowless winters. Skiers took rather constant heckling about their indulgence in a sport for which the natural facilities were poor. On their part, skiers were certain that some evil force was turning winter away from Wisconsin.

That situation has now been corrected. The skiers' prayers for snow apparently were merely accumulating, with interest, and all of them have been answered at once this year.

Many people probably still believe that spring starts Saturday and that summer is not far behind. But skiers know that these weekly snowstorms are going to continue at least through May.

Skiers, however, are sociable people and are not inclined to press their present advantage. They issue a very cordial invitation for others to join their ranks. But they want to make it clear that the issue is drawn and is a very simple one: If you are going to continue to live in Wisconsin either learn to ski or plan to move out!

Albie Booth Wasn't Real, Just Spirit

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Albie Booth wasn't real. He wasn't made out of genuine flesh and bone. He was a wraith who slipped out of the pages of Ralph Henry Barbour into a Yale-blue jersey on fine autumnal afternoons. He drifted and danced down a football field like a leaf on a capricious breeze.

Any Harvard tackler of 30 years ago — and there were some good ones — will testify to this. And so will that mighty son of Mars and thunder, Chris Cagle, the Tamerlane from the Point. Albie spotted Cagle and the Cadets a pair of touchdowns and then beat them 21 to 13, prancing down the field for 80 yards to score the winning touchdown. Then he added a drop-kick just like the one that beat Harvard.

Albie Booth was the triumph of spirit over flesh. He wasn't much bigger than a fair-sized midget. He couldn't be. If he had been built to do what he did, where would have been the magic? Anyway, he didn't have to be. He wasn't real. He came straight out of a boy's book, and he did only what happens in a boy's book — the thrillingly impossible.

Appropriate Taxes Only Way to Raise Needed Money, Wiley Says

Sen. Alexander Wiley, in the Congressional Record

We receive numerous letters in which we are asked, "What are you fellows doing there in Washington?"

Let me point out that at this session more than 7,000 bills have been introduced — 6,000 in the house of representatives and 1,300 in the senate. Only a small handful of them are major measures of broad national interest.

A rough count indicates that almost one-fourth of the total would confer special benefits upon such important numbers of voters as the 2.3 million federal civilian employees, the 2.5 million in the military services, the 12-plus million beneficiaries of social security, or the 22.7 million veterans. In no case, Mr. President, are any offsetting new taxes proposed.

Another large segment proposes direct tax relief for individuals or corporations by permitting them new or larger deductions for certain expenses, by increasing exemptions, by lowering rates, or by cutting excises.

A third, very large group embraces spending bills of all types and sizes. These range from the pet measures of individual members of congress for local projects to authorizations or appropriations for vast undertakings, the cost of which would ultimately run into the high billions of dollars.

However, Mr. President, higher taxes are the only honest answer to the fiscal dangers posed by new spending programs. Mr. President, in my humble opinion we must see to it that such programs are met in that way.

Labor's demands on the economy put consumers at a growing disadvantage. Wage demands that force price levels up are self-defeating. Pressures for more deficit-financed welfare programs further undermine the value of the dollar. The long-term effect is to diminish not only the value of the currency, but also the value of the workingman's labor.

Mr. President, I bring these matters to the attention of the senate because we are going off in all directions except the right one — namely, to see to it that, if we are going to spend, we raise the necessary funds by appropriate taxes.

Expects Upwar If State Passes Withholding Law

From The New Richmond News

We wonder how many have been impressed with the current session of the state legislature to date? True, nothing much has been accomplished yet. The solons haven't gotten down to brass tacks and decided how to raise the money with which to carry on the too many activities of government we enjoy today.

But we do expect an up- roar if this administration goes to a withholding tax for state taxes . . . it's bad enough that Uncle Sam slipped this way of taxation over during some past stress or strain but there is still time to look about in Wisconsin for a better plan, or better yet, spend less money!

Looking Backward

If an Apology, It's Left-Handed

79 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of March 20, 1880.

Rev. A. P. Graves, the Evangelist, is very indignant because the Crescent indulged in a slight criticism upon him. Evidently he thinks he bestowed a little printing on this establishment, which was done very neatly, cheaply and expeditiously.

The Reverend Evangelist should remember that the press has its duties to perform, no matter how unpleasant it may be to the editor. Hence the Crescent is obliged to say that the Reverend gentleman is the most self-opinionated and self-righteous clergyman that ever addressed an Appleton audience, and intolerant to the last degree.

If he really desires to effect permanent good where-ever he goes, it is high time he entered upon the work of self reformation in these particulars. This is the Crescent's apology for its former criticism.

Ten members of the public speaking class of Appleton Vocational school attended a dinner at the Hearthstone Tuesday. Miss Mildred Albrecht was toastmistress and after dinner speeches were delivered by all other members of the class. Those present were Bruno Krueger, teacher, Miss Albrecht, Martin L. Downs, Walter Brummond, C. L. M. Williamson, Harry Stumpf, Miss Elizabeth Radtke, Miss Louise Roemer, Al Levandoski and Harold Gramse.

Under the Capitol Dome

Legislature Proceeds Slowly, Uncertainly

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — A candid report must relate that the new legislature is proceeding with its business slowly and uncertainly.

The fact should not be surprising. Indeed, it is probably inevitable under the political circumstances prevailing—a divided legislature, a new assembly majority party with less leadership experience than the capitol has grown accustomed to watching, a new governor and a new executive office staff.

Yet it is a slow session and there have been enough comments about the circumstance to invite some explanation. Among the lobbyists and state department heads and the correspondents to whom the legislative calendar is of some personal importance there is now a fatalistic assumption that it will be a long session. Taken with the recessed or adjourned session that is scheduled for next fall, the legislative calendar probably won't be concluded until a day near next Christmas, is the general view.

ADMINISTRATION

One reason for tardy legislative activity is the slow development of the Nelson administration program. The governor has said what he wants to do. But it takes more than a speech. It requires preparation and bill drafting.

There has been a good deal of publicity about the youth of the new governor's staff. They are young men, unusually young in Wisconsin experience — eager and energetic — but inexperienced and untutored too. They have some pretty ambitious legislative items on their schedule — and the preparation of legislation in reliable and defensible form takes skill and time.

The other day Gov. Nelson turned up in person to explain a bill on the organization of the conservation department that he had sponsored. His unusual appearance was credited generally as a sign of his intense interest in the proposition. It could very well have been that — but might also have been due to the fact that he had not readily available handy man to send into the legislature as his agent and spokesman for that key piece of business.

Much of the administration's key program depends upon studies scarcely begun — including the tax impact study. Because the tax report won't be available for months, some of the major policy proposals of the ruling administration will be delayed correspondingly.

IN THE HALLS

It is not quite true, as some outsiders imagine, that the legislature is sitting on its hands these days. There are bills on the calendars, in good quantity. But they are minor bills. They don't make news, and thus the public that watches with half an eye may believe the legislature is literally loafing. The machinery is grinding away, but it is producing little of major consequence or public concern.

The legislature as an institution also has a built-in indolence, quite apart from who sits in the governor's office or what party is in legislative control. The two houses under rival Republican and Democratic control are watching each other warily. That has a slow-down tendency. The assembly is under fresh leadership, which is not wholly sure of itself. That has a slowing tendency. The Republicans in the senate see no need for taking the initiative. Theirs is a defensive and critical job, as they see it.

But beyond all that is that only a handful of legislators really wants to bear down — in terms of a longer work week, as an example. Speaker George Molinaro in the flush of his assembly victory two months ago bravely announced that he was going to demand a longer session week. But he has made no such moves, and won't.

Whatever they say when they vote, living expenses and higher salaries, legislators on the whole regard their jobs as part-time employment and insist upon spending most of their week on their own affairs at home.

Buckwheat Cakes are Ephemeral

From The St. Louis Post-Dispatch

Kenneth Harris, who lives near Anabel in Macon county, grows his own buckwheat, grinds his own meal and has his own scientific formula for making buckwheat cakes. "Plan your day in advance," he says. "Prepare the concoction at 8:30 p.m. Be ready to have your wife serve you at 4:30 a.m. I have found this batter reaches its maximum at 4:22 a.m. Terminal stage increases rapidly thereafter."

We approve Mr. Harris's scholarly approach, including the use of buttermilk and a spoon of molasses, and side-dressing of preserves or sorghum, but he has carried science too far — or not far enough. While the science of the buckwheat cake indeed calls for overnight patience, the art of eating one calls for something later than 4:30 a.m. even if there is a sure recipe for getting wives up at 4 o'clock.

We know a hotel in Topeka, Kans., whose buckwheat cakes reach terminal stage at 7:30 a.m. or thereabout. This batter also rises overnight, and once it is depleted, a customer must do without, or accept ordinary flapjacks. No bribery would lead a good chef to serve buckwheat cakes from new batter.

It is all a matter of timing. Let us regard the buckwheat cake not as the night-blooming cereus, but more as a morning glory, basking in the glow of sunshine and strawberry preserves. Science be hanged.

Ike Signs Bill for Hawaii's Statehood

minated program for effecting an orderly transition from territorial status to statehood.

He asked Stans to present to him recommendations on the subject.

Election Requirement

The primary must be held no less than 60 days nor more than 90 days after the proclamation. The general election must come no later than 40 days after the primary.

Eisenhower's proclamation making Hawaii the fiftieth state will come after the election results are officially certified. There is no fixed time limit on the presidential action.

Final congressional action on the admission of Hawaii came March 12 in a 323-89 house vote. The senate voted 76-15 a day earlier.

Eisenhower got the bill March 13 but used only four of the 10 days he had for signing or vetoing. Sundays don't count.

In addition to electing a governor and lieutenant governor, state legislators, two U. S. senators and one house member in congress, Hawaii must vote on three propositions:

1. Shall Hawaii immediately be admitted into the Union as a state?
2. Does Hawaii consent to the exclusion of Palmyra island from the boundary of the new state?
3. Does Hawaii accept statehood under all other conditions specified in the statehood bill, including land grants and reservations and one house member instead of two? There will be a second representative after the 1960 census reapportionment.

Hawaii is the last of the organized territories in line for statehood. There is no major movement in Puerto Rico to change that area's commonwealth status.

Opposition to Hawaii's admission melted after congress' action last year on Alaska.

A notable late switch was that of House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, long an opponent of statehood for the islands. He announced his change of mind in a statement issued while the house debate was going on, saying Hawaii is now ready and "will be an asset to the United States."

Racial Issue in South
The die-hard opposition, mostly young southern members of congress, centered on objections to the racial makeup of the population, the contention that communist influence in the islands is strong, and criticism of the influence there of longshoremen's leader Harry Bridges.

Statehood backers on the other hand minimized red power and contended statehood would weaken it. They argued too that admission of a territory with so much of the orient in its racial makeup will aid this country greatly in its dealings with the far east, acting as a sort of east-west bridge.

Betsy Ross, Omaha, a descendent of the Colonial Betsy Ross credited with fashioning the original 13-star American flag, says the best way to design a 50-star flag would be to put the stars in a circle instead of the square field as shown here. That's the way the original Betsy Ross did it.

In the island population of about 600,000 only about 23 per cent are Caucasian. The 1950 census showed people of Japanese descent as the largest ethnic group at 36.9 per cent. They outnumbered the native polynesians.

Hawaii has eight major islands and a number of smaller ones with a total land area of 6,434 square miles. That makes it bigger than Rhode Island, Delaware or Connecticut.

Throngs View Body of Old Soldier

Gate City, Va.—(AP)—Throngs continue to pour into this little town in final tribute to Civil war Veteran John Salling.

Funeral services are not until tomorrow. But the body of the 112-year-old general—the title was honorary—has been on public view since yesterday morning at the National Guard armory here.

Salling died Monday in a Kingsport, Tenn., hospital, leaving another confederate, Walter Williams, 116, Houston, Tex., as the only surviving veteran of the Civil war.

Salling is dressed in the crisp, grey summer uniform of a Confederate general given him last year by the women's army corps. On his chest is an array of medals, most of them from Civil war reunions he attended in later years.

A handsome bronze medalion in a velvet-lined box, issued by act of congress, is dropped on the confederate flag draped over the lower half of the glistening copper casket.

Saved Once From Same Fate, Man Chokes to Death

St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—A physician saved four months ago from similar fate when his farmer son operated on him with a paring knife, choked to death last night on a piece of steak.

Dr. Charles A. Olson, 71, St. Paul, was eating dinner last night with his wife, a niece, Mrs. Leo D. Neimast, and her husband, when he began choking. Mrs. Neimast attempted in vain to dislodge the food by slapping Olson's back. He was dead by the time a police surgeon arrived.

Last November he was eating dinner at the farm home of his son, Robert, when he began choking on a piece of ham. Robert, assisted by a brother, Charles, an air service employee, performed an emergency tracheotomy, using a paring knife, to cut an opening in his father's windpipe.

The barrel of a fountain pen was inserted in the incision to serve as a breathing tube. Dr. Olson had made complete recovery and had resumed his practice.

Nine State Projects on House Bill

Washington—(AP)—Nine Wisconsin projects are listed in a $1,190,050,000 military construction measure approved by the house armed services committee Tuesday. Actual funds will have to be appropriated in separate legislation. The committee revised somewhat the original construction bill which it had approved tentatively on Feb. 10.

The committee hopes to get the bill before the house by March 25.

Wisconsin projects listed include: Army reserve armory on Milwaukee's west side, $602,000; Milwaukee National

Hallows, Honeck Report on Their Spending in Race

Madison—(AP)—Justice E. Harold Hallows, one of two nominees for a 10-year term on the Wisconsin Supreme court, reported today he received $1,919 and spent $1,889 in the primary campaign. His accounting, filed with the secretary of state's office, added that he owed $504. Former Republican Atty. Gen. S. G. Honeck, the other successful nominee in the March 10 primary, reported receiving $355 in contributions, spending $694 and owing $338.

Guard armory $235,000; Air Force Reserve troop housing at Gen. Mitchell field, Milwaukee, $43,000; Wisconsin Air National Guard operational facilities at Voek field, Juneau county, $82,000; maintenance facilities at Trux Air Force base, Madison, $1,123,000; Army reserve training centers at Beaver Dam $176,000 and La Crosse, $317,000; National Guard armory at Tomahawk, $160,000, and National Guard armory organization maintenance shop at Hayward, $52,000.

Eight candidates were in the primary field. Honeck and Hallows, will oppose each other in the April 7 election.

Stops Constipation Due to "Aging Colon"

New laxative discovery re-creates 3 essentials for normal regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the strength that propels waste from the body. Stagnant bowel contents become so dry and shrunken that they fail to stimulate the urge to purge. Relief, doctors say, lies in a new laxative principle. Old-style bulks and moisteners may create gas, take 3 or 4 days for relief. Old-style salts and drugs cramp and gripe the entire system. Of all laxatives, only new COLONAM gives you its special 3-way relief that works only on the lower colon (area of constipation).

(1) COLONAM moisturizes dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain. (2) COLONAM's unequalled rebulking action helps restore flabby colon muscles. (3) And COLONAM acts gently, on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the vital "mass movement" of your lower colon. COLONAM relieves even chronic constipation overnight; is so gentle it was hospital proved safe even for expectant mothers. And COLONAM won't interfere with absorption of vitamins or other food nutrients. Get COLONAM today! Introductory size 43¢.

Truman Sees Failure for Red Panic Plan

Berlin out of context from the whole of occupied Europe. The world has learned from Munich that you cannot sell a city, a nation or a people down the river and achieve peace.

It is obvious we cannot at this stage negotiate satisfactory solutions of all the troubled areas of Europe. We should, therefore, attempt to tackle these problems step by step with open minds but with full regard for the rights of peoples involved. Since Khrushchev has suddenly thrust upon the west the problem of Berlin, which Russia created and ignored for so long, we can begin there.

Berlin symbolized the end of a tragic and terrible war in which Russia became our ally, after having made a treaty with Hitler. It would be criminal folly for Khrushchev to misjudge the situation and thus make Berlin the atomic trigger of a war of annihilation.

The Berlin crisis, in my judgment, could be used as an opportunity to redress any mistakes that were made when Germany was occupied by friendly allies. One of the most serious mistakes was Russia's refusal to cooperate with the west in the rehabilitation of all Europe, including the nations behind the iron curtain.

Time for Calmness

This is the time to be calm in the face of Khrushchev's campaign of diplomatic harassment. Let us not be precipitous in our decisions or appear to have no policy but one of nervous reaction to every Soviet action and demand.

During my administration we tried patiently to convince the Soviet Union the only way to peace is by making and keeping agreements to safeguard the rights of all peoples and nations and never to countenance the right of any one power to impose its will on another.

For our part, we tried to help many nations to help themselves at great sacrifice to our own people. We are still doing it. But Russia since the end of the war has used the resources of nations she occupied for the requirements of her own military and economic and expansionist aims.

Persistent Refusal

It is because of Russia's persistent refusal to cooperate that NATO, whose 10th anniversary will be observed in April, was organized. In the face of Russia's encroachments, NATO provided mutual safety and protection against aggression. NATO today provides force and constant vigilance against any threat to the safety of any of its members. NATO was set up solely for the protection of the independence of its members.

AWFUL "ACID-GAS" AFTER EATING Now Fixed With Fastest Kind of Relief

Those who suffer severe acid-gas indigestion after eating should take this real 3-way medicine—Pfunder's Tablets—for blessed relief. Not a "fizz"—not a candy-like tablet—this real 3-way medicine combines:

1. Immediate neutralizing—the FASTEST way known to medicine.
2. Special ANTI-GAS ingredients for positive action.
3. A widely prescribed AD-SORBENT, ANTACID—to adsorb excess acid as it continues to form.

Pfunder's Tablets—especially for those who suffer severe acid gas indigestion after eating. Get Pfunder's Tablets, today, at all drug counters.

bers and has no other reason for its existence.

The maintenance of NATO has been a costly and burdensome undertaking but the price of freedom has always been costly and I would suggest this is no time to subordinate the peace and freedom of our allies and ourselves to economic considerations. We may as well face it. This problem is going to be with us for a long time to come, and we will have to continue to make economic sacrifices, perhaps on an even larger scale.

I would remind Khrushchev that he is deluding himself about the economic endurance of the west and about the resoluteness of its people to be free. One is as limitless as the other, and certainly as the Kremlin continues to challenge free governments.

Inflated by Missiles

Of course, it is disconcerting to see the head of a mighty power, inflated by his missiles, try to impose his will on the rest of the world. To play on the hopes and longings of the world for peace one day and dash them the next is cruel and heartless behavior.

It is possible that Khrushchev's histrionics are the fruit of his education in the Lenin school of political warfare where the communist leaders were instructed to concentrate on achieving military supremacy and where it was taught that once having achieved this supremacy, the next step in the communist timetable was to launch a peace offensive.

In this peace offensive they would shift from intransigence to sweetness and light to dazzle the unsuspecting free nations with promises. The third step in the timetable is to wait until the west's protective guard is lowered and then follow this with a swift attack and ultimate conquest.

We have reason to be wary of Russia's professions of peace unless we get unmistakable evidence that Russia means it now. I would say to Khrushchev that peace is a serious and solemn business and that we will be ready to deal with him, or his successor, in a forthright way.

Surely Prime Minister Macmillan's recent experience in

Appleton Police Join Teletype System March 24

Appleton will join the 31-station state police teletype network March 24. Desk sergeants and station personnel this week are taking training from Wisconsin Telephone company instructors on operating the teletype, which can transmit and receive printed information.

Chief Walter J. Hendricks called the teletype the latest improvement in police communications. It will permit rapid communication with the state motor vehicle department on tracing car ownership, driver's records and similar inquiries, which make up the bulk of radio transmissions now relayed from the police department to the sheriff's office to the state police DePere station to Madison.

Stations in this area on the network include Green Bay, Oshkosh, Manitowoc, Sheboygan and Manitowish. Sheriff Robert Heinritz has asked the county board to okay an installation for the sheriff's office. Hendricks said the sheriff's office would have free access to the police teletype.

Moscow illustrates how each change in the Kremlin brings new stresses and anxieties to tax our hopes for peace. I believe Macmillan's visit to Moscow is significant for this reason: It should serve to remind the world and some of the leaders of the west that peace with the Soviets is still a 1-way street and can, at this stage, be had only on their terms.

Must be Unity

Therefore, there must be unity among our allies and not several attitudes with even minor variations developing lest the Russians exploit the situation to divide us.

When we had the monopoly of the atomic bomb, Russia's intransigence was explained away on the grounds that she was fearful of the west and acted belligerently out of a sense of insecurity. Khrushchev now boasts he can wipe out any part of the world with his stockpile of missiles and hydrogen warheads.

Yet Khrushchev's behavior is still intransigent and his manner belligerent. It should be clear by now that the Kremlin's attitude has nothing to do with Russian security, but is solely dominated by ambition to communize the world.

In this ambition the Kremlin faces disappointment and frustration, and herein lies the threat and danger to peace.

If the leaders of the Kremlin would study history a little more and their maps a little less, they would begin to see the impossibility of realizing their ambition to communize the world.

Wants Meeting

I hope that a foreign ministers' meeting can be held in an effort to make a fresh start to deal with the problems of Berlin and Germany.

I would hope we can avoid the dangers of impulsive action as well as the pitfalls of flexibility and expediency which seem to tempt some of our friends.

I continue to be optimistic about the prospects of peace, but only if we keep a firm grip on ourselves and if we think and act creatively in our foreign policy.

March Project Homemakers Discuss Wills, Property Transfer Procedure

Wills and the problems of property transfer from one generation to another are topics being discussed by Outagamie County Homemakers at project meetings during March. Training sessions have been led by Miss Nyla E. Bock, county home agent, and Russell Luckow, acting county agent.

Property, points out Miss Bock, is divided into two classes: real and personal. Real property is generally considered as land, while personal property is viewed as movable objects, such as furniture and livestock.

There are several ways a person can own property. Each family must decide its way to handle property depending on the situation. Among types are sole ownership, co-ownership and joint ownership (joint tenancy).

Consult a Lawyer

The agents explain a will as a written document telling how the maker of the will wants his property divided upon his death. They strongly advise those planning to draw up a will to consult an attorney.

In Wisconsin, they observed, any person 21 years of age and mentally competent may make a will. Married women 18 years of age and minors in the armed services are permitted by law to make a will.

To be legal and binding a will must be in writing and signed by the testator (the person making the will) and witnessed by two persons. Witnesses do not need to know what the will says. But relatives or other beneficiaries named in the will should not be a witness.

Points to Check

Homemakers were urged to do the following in regard to property records and wills:

1. Make a record of all property owned so a lawyer can determine whether property is owned solely or jointly.
2. Check beneficiaries of life insurance policies.
3. Decide how property is to be distributed and then ask a lawyer's advice.
4. If problems are complicated, ask a lawyer to prepare a rough draft of a will.

Other points were to have a lawyer supervise the signing of a will, to check a will whenever there is an important change in a family and to change the will accordingly—and to keep wills in a safe place after signing, either with an attorney, in a safe deposit box or with a county judge.

Leather Coat High Fashion News in Spring

Chill March winds hold no shivers for the woman with a new leather coat. An array of original sportswear and dressy, feminine formal wear in fine cabretta and suede leathers are high fashion news this season.

The blue sky's the limit as designers use leather alone or combined with a world of materials. Supple leathers—smooth and reversed—team with Italian knits, Irish tweeds and English cashmeres. They blend smoothly with cottons, embroidery and furs in suits, coats, ensembles, slacks, and jackets.

Leather in the new Empire lines is treated as elegantly as chiffon, velvet or other fluid, flexible fabrics.

The flowers that bloom in the Spring have rivals this year as leather in interpreted in a host of colors. Sun drenched, soft-spoken sheepskins vie with cabretta and cape in lilac, banana, taupe, bone avocado—and still the color wheel spins. There are brilliant reds, blues, willow green and tawny blonde in all garment leathers.

Children's Styles

Fine leathers also show up in children's fashions in both sports and dress-up styles. They are available in sizes 3 to 5X, girls' sizes 7 to 14 and subteens 8 to 16. A broad choice of styles includes cropped jackets, coats with detachable hoods, and shirtwaist classics. A ready favorite with the younger lady is a shirtwaist with tiny diamond-shaped cut-outs in a multitude of colors.

Garments of new treated leathers uniquely team style with practicality for a child's wardrobe. Soft and supple, they lend their lines to best effect. At the same time, they are easy to care for—a damp sponge removes soil, soot and stain.

Mezzo-Soprano Sets Recital Program

Kay Mueller, mezzo-soprano from Mayville, will give her junior recital at the Lawrence conservatory of music at 8:15 p.m. Thursday in Peabody hall.

A student of Inge Weiss, Miss Mueller is a member of the Lawrence college choir, the Lawrence Singers, plays flute in the Lawrence band, and is a high honor student. She is a member of Sigma Alpha Iota sorority. Accompanist is James Hawkinson, Cloquet, Minn.

Assisting Miss Mueller is a woodwind ensemble made up of 13 players—Phyllis Singletary, Beloit, and Jean Jepson, Nekosoa, oboes; Donald Niemi, Watertown, and Stanley Smith, Fond du Lac, clarinets; John Bauerlein, 1353 W. Lawrence street, and Dean Wheelock, 506 N. Superior street, basset-horns; James Hawkinson and Nancy Sullivan, Oshkosh, bassoons; Larry Strieby, 616 E. Circle street, Warren Kirkland, Pomonca, Calif., John Rafoth, Madison, and Rachel Bizal, Paris, Ill., French horns, and Gerald Brinker, 1825 N. Appleton street, contra-bass.

Children's Shoes Show High Style

The patter of little feet will tap out a new fashion rhythm at this year's Easter parade. The lean look of children's dress shoes has been achieved by careful styling which follows the natural contour of the developing foot. Lighter construction and flexibility are new features of today's shell, pump and saddle oxford—that all-hours, all-weather favorite of the youthful shoe wardrobe.

The birthday party circuit will feature more T-straps this year as delicate leathers set off feminine bouffants and wide-sashed empire dresses for the big and little miss. Pumps with more detail and delicate lacings will also be seen.

For the little leaguer and the husky teenager with bigger things in mind, the lighter look has been achieved through the use of more flexible leathers, closer edge trims and more detailing. But sturdiness has not been sacrificed. The sole of the boy's shoe remains of tough medium-weight leather to rebuff sticks, stones and rusty nails.

Whether your boy is girl-conscious or just self-conscious, he's concerned about his appearance. The style-conscious youngster can choose from a wide variety of moccasins, slippers and multi-oxfords. Stitchings and seams run wild—swirling, splitting along the sides of the vamp or marching straight up the center-line to the tongue.

The favorite colors are the "true browns"—a group of browns from light to dark with no red undertones—that are as correct with light and dark blue suits and slacks as they are with brown and tan.

Extra Teacher Duties Diminish Class Time

BY ANGELO PATRI

Lately I have been reading, with rising bewilderment, articles about what teachers can do and should do, to help solve the social, scientific, educational problems.

It would seem that any and all community matters become the task of the teacher.

They include giving a class of 30 children mid-morning milk; collecting money for it; collecting banking funds; keeping the records; visiting homes of pupils; interviewing parents; holding parents meetings frequently; attending evening meetings for conferences with parents too busy to go to school in the day time; attending parents meetings; getting up programs for such meetings; speaking at various meetings; testing children's vision and hearing and make reports to the school doctor and nurse; inspecting children every morning to detect signs of illness.

In short, do any odd job others forget.

I am all for co-operating with parents in the task of educating their children. That is essential. What troubles me is the idea that any pet idea for social benefit is handed on to the teacher.

When is the teacher to get down to teaching? I have the firm conviction that a teacher's job is teaching.

If people outside school would only stop to think how short are the hours in the classroom these days when a 45-minute period allowed for a lesson must be shortened by admissions and dismissals, by interruptions of one sort or another, they would be a bit more protective of the teachers' classroom time.

Of course it is fine to give children milk; of course it is good to teach children to save money; of course the nurse must see a child; naturally the guidance teacher, the school visitor, the supervisor must have a word with the teacher.

The school is the center of neighborhood interests and rightly so. What about the neighborhood people lending the school a hand?

Good Baby Sitters in Constant Demand; Need To Know Child Care

Associated Press Wirephotos

If you'd get in some good practice for your future role as wife and mother, take your baby-sitting experience seriously. That's the advice of Eloise Odegard, a registered nurse and mental health consultant in a New York City suburb. She explains: "A teen-age baby-sitter should know the basic facts about infant care. A girl of 14 should be able to handle this responsibility well if she goes about her job in a mature way." An infant's formula is one of the pleasurable highlights of his day. So don't rush the little fellow because you want to get the task over with. Nurse Odegard says: "A sitter should be able to offer a satisfactory feeding in mother's absence." "It's wise to get feeding problems straightened out with mother before she goes off to her date, cautions Nurse Odegard. As a general rule a baby's bottle should take at least 20 minutes, but perhaps baby is a slow drinker or perhaps he takes less milk than the average baby. These are important points for the baby sitter to know. Here are some other suggestions that should make baby sitting easier and more interesting:

- Bitter Tips
1. Ask mother to show you how to hold the baby, and how to burp him.
  2. What does mother want you to do if baby wakens in her absence? She may suggest you pick the baby up for a few minutes, or perhaps she will ask you to check the baby's needs, say a few comforting words and depart from the room.
  3. When mother calls you to make the baby-sitting date, ask her if the baby is shy of strangers, as some six-month-old babies are likely to be. In that event, arrive at the house a little early and get acquainted with the little child before mother takes off.
  4. Very few mothers will ask a new baby-sitter to give baby a bath, but if mother does ask you be sure you know where she keeps the baby powder, lotion, cotton swabs, and oil. Nurse Odegard suggests: If baby is chapped or has a rash she may ask you to apply medication or soothing lotion, perhaps with cotton swabs, so it is a good idea to get a preview of their application.

Arrive Early
Older children require different treatment, of course. The sitter would do well to arrive early for her get-acquainted period. "Many children," notes Nurse Odegard, "regard a visiting sitter as a challenge to mischief. A sitter must be careful not to let them intimidate her. She must be quietly firm and see that they get to bed at the time mother recommends." It's a good idea to ask mother to explain that you are in charge when she is young people," says Nurse away, as this may have the effect of easier control of the children.

A youngster who wants to be known as a good baby-sitter in her neighborhood should do some general reading on child care. Nurse Odegard says. She should know what to expect from children of different ages.

It's a good idea to let your family doctor know you are available, as well as favorite school teachers, and parents in the neighborhood. "A 14-year-old who approaches parents in a mature manner for baby-sitting work is likely to have more requests than she can handle. I've seen this approach work very effectively for many young people," says Nurse Odegard.

Culbertson on Bridge

The bidding:
West North East South
1 H Pass 2 C 2 D
D'ble Pass Pass Pass

Before we appraise South's bid, let's see what happened to it. West opened his singleton club. East captured dummy's jack with the queen and shifted to his lowest spade. South ducked; West won with the queen and cashed the spade ace, then laid down the heart ace. When East discarded a club, South could sense what was going to happen to him, but there was nothing he could do about it. West now led a low heart. East ruffed and cashed the club ace. West got rid of his last spade on this trick and ruffed East's spade return; East ruffed West's next heart lead, and, as a cruel finale, the defenders established a ninth trick for themselves when East led another club! If South ruffed high, West would later take a trick with his 10-6-3 of trumps; if South ruffed low, West would overruff then and there. . . . Down 1100!

Now, back to the bidding. It is true that South was unlucky in respect to the East-West distribution, but it was inexcusable for him to enter the auction against an opening bid at his left and a two-over-one overcall at his right. Consider how little South had to gain by his bid, and how much to lose. Surely, to "go anywhere" he would have to find his partner with a really good hand, and just as surely, it was inconceivable that North could have any such holding.

A Lovelier You

By Mary Sue Miller

A lovely asks: How can I hide a long, thin neck? I used to do it with high necklines and johnny collars, but you can't hardly get them no more." Fashion now seems dominated by wide-open necklines and flat collars, and it leaves my neck shelterless. Please do find an answer.

For all with the problem, this answer: Finesse it! If American and Paris fashion predictions hold, we are in for even lower necklines and wider-spreading collars. They are so pretty and feminine that most women will welcome more of the same. You will, too, once you've tried these bits of camouflage.

With all low necklines, wear a chunky choker. Fill in suit necklines with a high-collared and bow-tied dicker. With a coat, use a chiffon scarf—but make a fluff of it, not a bandage. When wearing evening dresses, fling a stole across your throat.

And consider yourself lucky for being able to carry off these touches. No short-necked damsel would dare attempt them!

Middle-Aged Couple Tells Way of Finding Happiness

BY ANN LANDERS
 DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm sorry for ourselves the other evening. Then she suddenly said "Why don't we get a couple of underprivileged children to spend the weekend with us? We could take them for a tour of the city, buy them a few things and show them a good time! We became excited just talking about it."
 The next day my wife phoned a local welfare agency and was put in touch with an orphanage. We were checked and approved and told when to come for the children.

 Ann, we had the time of our lives. Those kids were bug-eyed at everything they saw. The simplest things gave them genuine joy. They raved over my wife's cooking. They were honestly excited over the few little things we bought for them. I'm sure my wife and I had more fun than the kids. Neither of us have laughed so much in years. In a couple of weeks we're going to take them again.

There's no question about it—the way to get happiness is to give it.—No Signature
 DEAR ANN LANDERS: What do you think about a husband who keeps an 8 by 10 picture of his former wife in his office? The odd part of it is, the picture is 11 years old and doesn't look any more like her than I look like Elizabeth Taylor. She is now 40 pounds heavier and her hair is a different color.

We've been married four years and have two darling sons. It's embarrassing to go to his office (which I do very seldom) and see that picture, bold as life.
 I haven't said one word about it and I don't intend to. I'd appreciate a suggestion from you as to how I can get him to take that thing off the wall without letting him know I feel so deeply about it.—Second Try
 Dear Second Try: Take those two "darling sons" to a portrait studio and have some adorable pictures made—8 by 10, of course. Ask Dad to select the one he wants for his office. Only the most insensitive clod would

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter is 21 years of age and engaged to be married to a fine young man. They met in college and we like him a great deal.
 The trouble is, they are together until 3:00 a. m. almost every morning. If they go out, he stays till dawn laughing and talking. You'd think he was leaving for Europe the next day and wouldn't see her for a year.
 Am I "old-fashioned" when I say this isn't proper? They won't be married until June. My husband says I shouldn't say anything, but this doesn't seem right somehow. Should I keep quiet or express myself? If so, what shall I say?—C.M.
 Dear C.M.: A girl 21 is old enough to know when to send her boy friend home. Apparently they are soooooo in love they can't bear to say goodnight. (Funny how so many of these characters who hang around until dawn can't

Wedgewood China Producer Sees No Threat In Plastic Dinnerware

AP Newsfeatures
 "Plastic dinnerware will be no threat to us in the foreseeable future," says Sir John Wedgwood, sixth generation member of the international pottery firm established by Josiah Wedgwood.
 "We are not contemplating any competition in the field of plastic ware at present, but I am in America to look around, to size up the new shapes, patterns and colors now popular in table ware."

 Sir John plans to visit 29 cities on the dinnerware circuit including Boston, San Francisco, Chicago, Memphis and Toronto because "many of the cities in America require more cosmopolitan patterns than do the English."
Trend to Modern
 There is a trend to modern dinner ware, he says, although the most popular single pattern in the Wedgwood line is a Florentine design, a handsome wide border of gold on white, among other color choices. Jasper ware, still a top seller has not been changed in design or color in 180 years, he points out.
 Although the bulk of designs are turned out these days by staff artists, Wedgwood employs many outside designers who are well known in England.
 There is no real Oriental trend in dinnerware, Sir John says, and there is no plan to incorporate Eastern patterns into their line to satisfy the wave of interest now apparent in America.
 "It's just another passing fancy," says Sir John "and it will not be long lasting."

How to Create Furniture Effect With Shelves

Cut the shelves of fine furniture woods and give them furniture finishes and they can do as much to furnish the room as to decorate it. Shelves, located as these are, serve as tables and help to solve the problems of limited space.
 At top, the shelves begin sofa-side to hold a lamp, ash-tray and books near at hand as a table would, but provide two levels and continue their usefulness along the wall. Below, the shelves begin in the few left-over inches of a corner and follow the adjacent wall rather than the wall that backgrounds the bed. Such shelves can be deep and long, but fitted against the wall and with open space below, there's no look of crowding. The room gains wonderful convenience that there might otherwise be no room for, and with handsome decorative effect.
 Mrs. J. C. "White woodwork doesn't seem right to me for a pine paneled room. The pine was installed shortly before we bought the house and the former owner did nothing about the woodwork but we'd like to match it to the walls if this is advisable. The room is a small den off the living room which we use as a TV room and study, and we plan to put up shelves. Should the shelves be white to match the window frames, door and door frame if you think they should stay white?"
 Stains to match pine paneling are available and the match would improve the appearance of the room and help it to look larger. However, since the door is the largest area to be changed, and will look least like the pine in the stain because it won't have the matching grain, it might be a good idea to paint it a handsome deep color such as dark, dull green or dulled lacquer red, depending on the color scheme. Use matching pine for the shelves.
 Mrs. R. J. T. "I've always had floor length lined draperies in my bedroom, but now that I plan to fit two new drawer chests and a small corner dressing table under the corner windows I wonder if sheer curtains wouldn't be better. I'd still like the curtains floor length and prefer a sheer that isn't too lightweight. What do you think?"
 The curtains on the corner windows needn't be floor length. They will be more convenient and will still seem to match the long curtains if they reach the tops of the new furniture, and you might like a skirt of the curtain fabric for the dressing table.

Aisle Seat Grabber Criticized

BY EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Every once in a while I go to the theater with a group of women friends (six to be exact). We play cards together and put aside a certain amount each week for this purpose. One of the women usually takes charge of the tickets. There is one woman in the group who always manages to be the first one to the seats and promptly sits herself down on the aisle seat, forcing the others to walk in front of her and take the seats beyond. I think this is not only very bad manners on her part but selfish as well. When I mentioned this to her, her reply was "First come, first served." Don't you agree, Mrs. Post, that this is very rude and that the first person should take the farthest seat in and the others follow as they happen to come, the last person seated, taking the aisle seat?

Answer: You are right except in one case, namely, when the first to arrive in a pew for a wedding has the right to the aisle seat.

Present For Hostess

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine tells me that it is not really proper to take or send a present to a hostess after staying with her for a weekend as it implies "payment for hospitality." Will you please tell me if this is true?

Answer: A bread and butter letter is an exaction of etiquette, but the presents we take or send to our hostess depend entirely upon our own feeling. Certainly it is proper to give them but not necessary.

Write in Full

Dear Mrs. Post: When addressing wedding invitations, may the name of the state be abbreviated (for example, Pa. for Pennsylvania) or must it be written out in full?

Answer: Correctly the name of the state is written in full.

Appleton 1 Day Away From Tying Old Weather Record

Appleton today stands one day away from tying one of its oldest weather records—days of zero or below readings since November.

This morning's zero reading brought to 40 the number of days since November 1, 1958, when the thermometer reached zero or below. There is a chance of some rain, weathermen indicate.

If the cold has you down there is this word from Weather Observer Al Braun to consider: When the 3 below zero mark was established in 1951, the following April and May brought temperatures five to six degrees above normal and a hot summer. There is, you see, always room for hope.

Woman Burned In Mid-Morning $2,000 House Fire

Mrs. Floyd Kain, 800 S. Telulah avenue, burned her right hand in an estimated $2,000 fire at her home about 9:35 a. m. today.

Paraffin wax she was heating to make tulip Easter egg shells caught fire, Fire Chief Neumann said, spilling onto a hallway floor as she hurried to take the pan outside.

The fire damaged hallway woodwork, a back door and the side of a kitchen cupboard. There was smoke and heat damage throughout the house, the chief said.

Mrs. Kain rushed back into the house to take her 3-year-old daughter, Carol, to a neighbor's home.

Firemen took the woman to a doctor and she was under sedation for shock late this morning.

Fidgling, nose-picking and a burning rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms. . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infect one out of every three persons examined. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W Tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredients go right to work—kill Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Magazine Cites Lawrence as Good School With Room

Lawrence college is listed as one of the excellent colleges which have room for more students in the March issue of Parent's magazine.

The story, aimed at parents puzzled about where to send their children to college, notes that Lawrence and some other excellent small schools are not as well-known as many larger institutions. But, the article says, Lawrence is not obscure enough "for Harvard university to overlook Nathan M. Pusey, who went straight from the presidency of Lawrence to a top position of academic leadership, the presidency of Harvard."

Lawrence was similarly cited in the January issue of Harper's magazine.

The repeal bill would carry out the intent of one of the main Democratic party platform planks.

Two bills which would grant exemptions to persons over 65 under the state income tax law were introduced. One would apply only to the over 65 provisions, the other would also grant an exemption for the blind persons.

Willis Hutnik R-Tony and Arnold Cane R-Menasha also introduced a resolution memorializing congress to enact a nationwide Daylight Saving Time law. State "fast time" laws are conflicting, it said.

School Bus Quarrel Again In Legislature

Several Members Preparing Bills to Provide Service

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — A revival of the old and bitter quarrel about the transportation of parochial school children in publicly-financed school buses is in prospect in the present legislature.

Reliable reports today said several members of the legislature are preparing resolutions proposing to amend the state constitution to make such service to parochial school pupils possible. Under the present state constitution they are not eligible for tax-paid transportation because of the rule on division of church and state.

Efforts Failed

Repeated efforts to amend the law have failed. The last serious drive came 14 years ago, when a resolution for an amendment was pushed through both houses of the legislature but lost in a popular vote on a fall ballot by a margin of about 5-4.

School transportation service has been enormously expanded since that time and transportation costs today amount to a significant share of the public school budget.

Backers of universal school transportation service maintain health and welfare of children are involved in the question. The issue involves principally pupils at Catholic schools and lesser numbers enrolled in Lutheran schools.

Madison Mayor Asks City Stand On School Bill

Madison Mayor Ivan A. Nestingen has asked the Appletton city council to oppose a school attachment bill now before the legislature.

The bill, he says in a letter, would permit attachment of non-high school districts to cities for school purposes only. Attachment, by a county school committee, should be with approval of the city council only, Nestingen believes.

In the case of unincorporated lands, the attachment should not be given consideration, he says, unless there has been a petition for annexation that was refused by the city.

Large Nearby Areas

If the lands in question are incorporated, Nestingen would require evidence of a move to consolidate with the city that was turned down, or he would forbid city consideration of the school attachment.

(There are large parts of towns surrounding Appletton which are not in a high school district. All residents are taxed equally to defray tuition charges for students who attend nearby high schools.)

(Appletton councilmen two years ago ordered court action to stop attachment of Grand Chute non-operating elementary school districts, but the move failed. A law similar to the one proposed now for non-school areas was the instrument which had brought the problem.

State Road, Bridge Work to Reach New High, Says Engineer

Milwaukee — Harold B. Schultz, bridge engineer for the Wisconsin highway commission, said Monday the construction of highways and bridges in the state probably will reach a new high this year and in 1960.

Schultz addressed delegates attending the Wisconsin Road Builders' association annual meeting.

Road building plans for 1959, Schultz said, call for the construction of 220 bridges, not including those required for the Milwaukee county expressway system.

Schultz said, however, that 40 or 50 bridges on the interstate system will have to be dropped from the program if additional federal funds are not appropriated.

Royalton Town Has Three Tests On Spring Ballot

Royalton — Three contests were placed on the April 7 ballot at the town of Royalton caucus.

Robert Robert and Dave Sexton will vie for the chairmanship, and Emil Koteke and Lawrence Roloff for first supervisor and Charles Kurth and Donovan Ritchie for second supervisor.

Herbert Steiner is unopposed for clerk; Mrs. Edna Steinberg, treasurer; Francis Dean, assessor; Elmer Rach, constable and Marilyn Buchholz, justice of the peace.

Cost Estimates Given for Safety Work at Viaduct

Cost estimates for two plans to increase pedestrian safety at the Wisconsin avenue railroad viaduct have been presented to the street and sanitation committee.

Director of Public Works Duszynski said erection of a steel plate beam guard would cost about $2,370 while raising the sidewalk would cost about $1,413.

The steel plate would leave 3.2 and 3.5-foot wide sidewalks on each side of the street; the raising of the walks would leave 3.8 and 3.5 feet for walks, he said.

Ald. Pointer and Ogilvie and nearly 100 petitioners want the safety device placed at the viaduct to protect children walking to and from school. Committee members said they

Snow Emergency Law Enforcement Asked

Would Ease Plowing, Two Aldermen Say

Police enforcement of emergency snow control laws was among suggestions two aldermen have advanced to aid the street department in snow plowing work.

Ald. Pointer and Stumpf, who drove truck-plows without pay during recent snow storms, said they were amazed by the amount of time would leave the matter for the next committee since they have only one more meeting before the mayor reappoints committees.

wasted because of vehicles in the street.

When cars are in the way on narrow streets — especially after a lot of snow — it is impossible to proceed and plows must back up and skip a block, they said.

Vehicles left on streets should be towed out of the way, they said, but Mayor Mitchell said he doesn't know if that is legal.

Pointer also suggested that some method should be devised to pinpoint fire hydrants during snow storms. A marker should tell where they are, he said, so that snow piles atop them can be avoided, if possible.

Other committee actions: Plans and specifications for the first storm sewer work of 1959 were approved. The council Wednesday will be asked to authorize an advertisement for bids. Projects would cost an estimated $44,000. Director of Public Works Duszynski said.

Invited to Meeting

LaVern E. Stickney, 2307 S. Lawe street, was sent a registered letter, asking him to meet with the committee March 3 about his charges to the mayor that a city plow cleared out the Cinderella Ballroom parking lot during the height of a recent snow storm. The committee has a letter from Badger Highways company, Inc., stating it did the work.

Nathan Dahlman, 1002 W. Eighth street, was given permission to install a sanitary sewer connection from a house he would build in the 300 block of S. Mason street through back yards to a trunk which extends off Prospect avenue, providing the sewer in the street in front of his lot is about five feet under the roadway and he would be unable to obtain proper drainage, he said.

Purchase of an estimated $2,000 in contour maps of the 560 acres between College avenue and Highway 41 and extending west from the city limits about a half mile was approved. They will help solve the drainage problem south of 41 and may be of value in finding a site for a new street department building, Duszynski said.

The Hoffman company was given approval to use five parking stalls in front of 222 E. College avenue while it constructs an estimated $45,000 combination office-store building for Ideal Photo. Duszynski was asked to have the company pinpoint the dates it wants. Work will be under direction of the building inspector.

Curb, gutter, grading and gravel were recommended for Frances street between Bennett and Mason streets. Committee members said they understand 13 property owners favor it and six oppose.

Sewer, water, grading and gravel were recommended for Rankin street from Woodland avenue north to the end of the street. Three property owners sought the work.

Duszynski was given permission to attend a Wisconsin Society of Professional Engineers' meeting at Milwaukee April 9, 10 and 11.

Find Man Unconscious On Avenue Sidewalk

Carl Treichel, 32, 837 E. John street, was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital about 1 a.m. Tuesday after a city snow removal crew found him unconscious on the sidewalk in the 300 block of E. College avenue.

He was taken to the hospital by Lindy's ambulance.

The complaint charges Bloom with treating or attempting to treat the sick without first having a certificate of registration in the basic sciences. Bloom is also accused of failure to comply with other requirements of Wisconsin law covering the practice of medicine.

Justice Courts Criticized by State Truckers

Publication Asks Reorganization of Wisconsin Courts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The freight truckers of Wisconsin are unhappy about the justice courts, in which some of them occasionally find themselves as defendants.

The current edition of the publication of the Wisconsin Motor Carriers association echoes a complaint heard from other sources during the recent years of argument on reorganization of the court system—that the justices are too eager to find evidence against the defendant because it is a method of assessing fees.

"If the defendant is found guilty, he must pay the court costs. If the defendant is found not guilty, the justice must collect his fees from the county. Many counties refuse to pay such fees. Thus it can readily be seen what happens to a defendant in a justice of the peace court," wrote John P. Varda of the Association.

Reflects Experience

Varda related some of his experiences on behalf of Association members in such courts, and was plainly unhappy about them.

"The Wisconsin legislature must do something about these justice of the peace courts," he declared, recalling that the legislature is about to consider another version of a complete Wisconsin court reorganization plan as drafted by the State Judicial Council.

The organized justices have opposed each of the reorganization plans thus far.

Iola Man Receives Year's Probation

Waupaca — Phillip B. Olson, 28, Iola, pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct Tuesday when he appeared before Justice George Whalen. He received a year's probation to the state department of public welfare.

He was arrested by Sheriff's Sgt. Harold Holly after causing a disturbance in his home March 14. A 30-day jail sentence was stayed.

standing," said Evans. Appleton Supv. Philip Retson asked to hold the vote on the Esler motion until April.

"All right, go ahead — vote in favor of doing private work," snapped Esler.

"Why wait a month? We can still get a lot of snow," chimed in Appleton Supv. Fred Krause, head of the county's highway committee.

The move to delay the vote a month was turned down by a voice vote.

Weyers tried to get the board adjourned until this afternoon but the attempt was shouted down in a voice vote.

The vote on not plowing in front of the hangars was unanimous with nine supervisors absent.

Retson still wanted a report on what was done at the airport and how much it cost, and the airport committee will tell the board about it next month.

Commissioner Views

(Highway Commission) — Clarence Brownson said that he dispatched equipment to the airport on the request of its manager, Max Sagunsky.

The billing for the work goes to Sagunsky and if he charges hangar owners for it, the highway department does not know it, Brownson said. During the severe storm March 5 and 6, the county sent a light plow because heavier equipment was busy elsewhere, Brownson said. He added that the situation at the airport was similar to a town. When county equipment moves in, it works under the direction of the airport manager, just as in a town it works under direction of town officials.)

Opinions Divided On Tavern Bill

Later Closing Vote Postponed Until After Public Hearing

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—The assembly executive and fees committee Tuesday held a public hearing on a bill to allow Wisconsin taverns to stay open until 2 a. m. while daylight savings time is in effect, but postponed a vote until next week.

The committee agreed to the delay because of a printing error in the bill. A similar measure gained approval last week of a senate committee and the new proposals follow a veto by former Gov. Vernon Thomson in 1937.

The assembly bill would grant taverns throughout Wisconsin, except in Milwaukee county, the right to stay open until 2 a. m., but local governing bodies could set an earlier time. Milwaukee taverns are governed by special legislation permitting later hours.

Familiar Opinions

Opinions at the public hearing were divided along familiar lines. Supporters of the bill maintain it will compensate taverns for one hour of business lost because of daylight savings time. Opponents predict the 2 a. m. closings will bring more fatal traffic accidents.

Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, who represents the resort counties of Iron, Oneida, and Vilas and who is a co-sponsor of the bill, emphasized the loss of one hour of darkness to taverns and the resort industry in particular.

"When the electorate of Wisconsin changed the standard of time to daylight saving, in reality it deprived the tavern industry of one hour of clientele," he said.

Alfonsi said the bill also would end "discrimination" favoring Milwaukee taverns and would increase revenue from beer and liquor taxes.

Raymond Bayley, of the United Temperance Movement, predicted more serious traffic accidents because of the added hour of drinking time.

Wrong Arithmetic

"On behalf of the people who have to get to work the next morning, it is a good thing they have to be told at 1 a. m. that it is time to go home. For those on vacation, bling.

it seems something is wrong with arithmetic to say that one hour is being lost," Bayley said.

Charles Velte, Neenah, urged the committee to disregard the motive of "more sales for more profits regardless of the consequences involved."

Velte quoted from holiday safety messages of the State Motor Vehicle department and used charts of the National Safety council to make his point that more fatalities will result from the 2 a. m. closings.

Greater Hazard

"The hazard is great enough at 1 a. m. It will be still greater at 2 a. m. because of the extra hour of drinking involved," he said.

John Rohrer, of the Tavern League of Wisconsin, said many states have tavern hours later than the present 1 a. m. closing. This, he noted, includes the new state of Alaska, where taverns stay open until 3 a. m.

"This bill is not asking for an extra hour, only that hour of darkness lost by daylight savings time by an industry already hard-pressed and in recession," Rohrer said.

The committee also heard advocates of a bill to exclude pin ball machines which award free games from gambling laws. Representatives of the Amusement Machine Operators association complained that Milwaukee police were classifying the winning of free games by "skill" as gambling.

Airport Snow Removal Gives Tempers Boost

Board Members Decry Filled Roads, Plowed Hangars

A question about who pays for snow removal at the Outagamie county airport exploded this morning as rural supervisors rose up to decry the blocked state of town roads.

"I can't even get a plow for my town but the snow is plowed from in front of those private hangars at the airport, my people tell me," complained Grand Chute.

Lecker, Supv. Arthur Lecker, lighting the fuse.

"I assume the county pays for the snow removal at the hangars, since it's county property," Appleton Supv. Douglas Evans, secretary of the airport committee, said, adding fuel to the argument.

"If the hangars can be plowed out, why can't we plow out driveways so farmers can get out with their milk," asked Lecker?

The real explosion came as Appleton Supv. Sylvester Esler cried, "It's a poor system out there anyway—I'm not blaming the airport committee, but it doesn't know this and it doesn't know that. It's all right to keep the airport run away open, but not somebody's private airplane hangar."

No Agreement

"There was nothing in any agreement when those hangars were built that the county should plow them out or do anything else for private owners," Esler commented.

"There's no question farmers are more important than an airplane hangar. If the county board feels the hangar owners should pay, fine," said Evans.

Esler moved to charge for any plowing, graveling or any other work around the hangars done by the county and to plow in front of the hangars after all roads in the county are open. It was quickly seconded by several rural board members.

"When I was on that committee, those people in the hangars shoveled their way out—all we ever plowed was the runway," commented Black Creek Supv. John Fuhrman.

"But you're a farmer," chorused the supervisors. Lecker said he didn't know how much it cost, but he estimated the county had spent $500 plowing out hangars.

"We haven't okayed that much for plowing the whole airport this year," countered Evans.

"You aren't through yet," commented a board member.

Wait a Month

Appleton Supv. Alois C. Fischer, an airport committee member, suggested laying the matter over a month to find out what the story is on snow removal. "Besides, Esler is right and we don't know anything about what goes on at that airport. All we get is an annual financial statement, no details," he added.

Farmers are still snowed in today, added Freedom Supv. Joseph Weyers, and "I don't see why we plow the airport and not the roads. I walked 2½ miles Monday to get out myself."

It's the county's responsibility to plow the runway and ramp, no private hangars, said Appleton Supv. Gordon Schultz.

Weyers said there might be some underhanded goings on with this plowing.

"No, it's probably a misun-

Meade Street Not Ready for Business Zone

All Zoning Conforms To Land Use, Plans Commission Reports

Meade street, north of Wisconsin avenue, isn't ready for creation of commercially zoned strips along both sides of the street, the city planning commission has ruled.

The ruling, with a report that all land on both sides of the street is zoned in accordance with use, caused Ald. Mrs. Dorothy Stillings to withdraw a resolution before the commission.

Her resolution, presented at the last council meeting, called for the planning commission to bring Meade street zoning into conformance with use and take steps to inhibit constant requests for spot zoning.

Utility Opposed

Other commission recommendations, all expected to be voted upon at tonight's council meeting:

The tentative Styletend addition, 15 Lieber Lumber company lots on the south side of Candes street the city limits, was approved provided the proposed Arlington avenue is relocated to conform with the adjacent George Roehl plat. The water commission today advised it would not approve

It was cold in Appleton on St. Patrick's day, 1941, but not as cold as one Appleton resident maintains. He said it got to minus 15. Official records show the mercury dipped to 7 below on March 17, 1941, lowest since 1926, according to records of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. That may be the all-time low, too. At the Green Bay weather station, where records go back to 1882, St. Patrick's day 18 years ago also holds the low record of 6 below zero.

City firemen were summoned to investigate a strange odor in the Oliver Johnson home, 822 E. Fremont street, at 3:25 a.m. today.

They found a can of oil tipped over atop the basement furnace. They removed the can and wiped up the oil.

The family cat, they said, tipped over the can.

the plat since it includes dead-end water mains.

Rezoning of Clifton Hughes lot at the southwest corner of Meade and McArthur streets from 1-family to 2-family district was approved. The lot is immediately north of a Wisconsin Michigan Power company sub-station.

The final Nicholas replat, switching alley requirements north of Wisconsin avenue at Gillett street from north-south to east-west, was approved. Plat owners have stipulated they will move a house in the way of opening the east-west alley within 10 years at their expense.

The final Highland Acres plat, showing Owassa street with a 50-foot right-of-way, was approved. The 120-lot layout was approved once before, but referred back when Ald. Pointer said he opposes 50-foot right-of-ways.

The Westview plat, in the newly-annexed 73 acres at the northwest corner of the city, is being held while one of the owners seeks approval from the others for a row of multiple family district lots on Linwood avenue extended.

Press Offers Challenge to Reader, P-C Writer States

The 1-newspaper city almost always is poorly served, but people in the Fox River valley are blessed with good newspapers, Charles House, a staff writer for the Post-Crescent and the Green Bay Press-Gazette, said Tuesday night.

House, whose "On the House" appears daily, told the Fox River Valley Traffic club at the Conway hotel that the daily newspaper has four obligations: information, interpretation, service and entertainment.

In a city which had two newspapers owned by the same publisher, coverage of an important speech on outer space by a U.S. senator was non-existent, House said. The story ran on the front pages of almost all newspapers across the nation but was not covered locally because the publisher was at political odds with the senator.

The freedom to serve the public does not exist in totalitarian countries, House said. "Not all newspapers are alike in the fare they serve," House remarked. "The publishers of the Christian Science Monitor and the New York Times, for example, have varying ideas of what their subscribers want to read. But, best of all, we have the freedom to serve you without want nor hindrance."

Since newspapers are one of the few industries which hold the importance of man above self, House said, the reader should meet the challenge the daily press offers and accept the responsibility of keeping well-informed.

Won't Try To Condemn Frenzl Land

The board of public works decided Tuesday against condemning the Frenzl property for parking purposes.

City councilmen at their last meeting refused to buy from the 5,458-square-foot parcel at 215 N. Morrison street for $30,000.

Floor speakers said the price was far too high and Ald. Malmstrom, in a resolution, called for the works board to study condemnation possibilities.

City Atty. Jury Tuesday told the board he would have to prove the city needs the property and he doubts that can be done, since the parking lot to the north is seldom filled.

Build Around
(Board members entered negotiations with Jack Frenzl, acting for a brother and two sisters, because, they said, the Frenzl property would prevent construction of a parking ramp in the block sometime in the future. The Washington and Morrison street lot, they said, is the one used the most and ramp construction undoubtedly would begin there.)

One alderman, advocating a cessation of negotiations with Frenzl, said the board could talk to Frenzl again when the ramp problem occurs.

A vote to formally reject the Frenzl offer, reported by Mayor Mitchell and City Clerk Broehm as Frenzl's "rock bottom," passed unanimously.

PSC Nomination Leads to Fight

Gov. Nelson's Nominee Bitterly Opposed by Milwaukee Suburbs

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Madison — The Democratic state administration is involved in the biggest fight of its short life in the attempt to place a leading Milwaukee Democrat and alderman in the most powerful administrative office in the state government.

Lines were drawn here Tuesday as a senate committee held a long and uproarious hearing on Gov. Gaylord Nelson's nomination of Ald. Matthias Schimenz as chairman of the state public service commission to replace George Steinmetz, a career officer of that powerful regulatory agency.

Angry Alliance

Administration backers called upon labor and liberal leaders to extol the qualities of Schimenz, but an angry alliance of Milwaukee county suburban governments demanded the rejection of the Nelson nominee because of his alleged prejudices on the matter of extension of water service by the metropolitan city.

The proceeding was almost without precedent. Usually, hearings are routine and confirmation by the senate automatic. But the 52-year-old Schimenz, a husky amputee, sat in the back of the hearing room for three hours and heard himself alternately praised as a dedicated public servant and condemned as the guiding spirit of Milwaukee's long and bitter quarrels with its numerous and growing suburbs. The tangled history of suburban relations for half a century was recited before the legislators.

Confirmation Doubtful Schimenz' nomination will be before the Republican-controlled state senate in about 10 days for a vote. Most forecasts have it that his confirmation is doubtful.

A highlight of the proceeding Tuesday was the nominee's own testimony and his admission that he had made an unfortunate remark about opposing suburban water service.

"I didn't mean it," he told the senators.

Republican legislators also drew from him the statement that he opposes government ownership of utilities, unlike many of his partisan Democratic associates. He doesn't believe the government should compete with private enterprise, he said.

Offer Praise

Milwaukee Democratic party leaders, appearing as private citizens, and labor lobbyists appearing for the big Milwaukee labor federations enthusiastically praised Schimenz.

But Milwaukee suburban leaders were bitter in their condemnation.

The city of Milwaukee for her budget meeting, to the half a century, in defiance of the law and court decisions, has tried to use the extension of water service beyond its boundaries as a club to force the latter point because of the problem of supervisors being annexation to the big city, named to the county highway committee for one year in November and continuing to serve after their defeat in the April municipal elections.

DA's Blast at County Board Has Been Filed

Away, Heenan Says

Dist. Atty. George Greisch's letter castigating the county board on a number of subjects after the board had asked him about buying books and an altercation about witnesses with a county policeman was read and filed, Appleton Supv. Patrick Heenan told the board Tuesday.

Greisch charged the board with assorted errors in judgment, commenting that he refused to engage in their investigations of his office any further. The letter was sent to Heenan.

Heenan, asked by Appleton Supv. Arthur Hoonhan, what became of the letter, said it was filed and that he intended to read it to the board this month, but forgot it.

Ornamental Iron Shop Owned by Craftsman Who Dotes on His Work

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Cooperstown — If gentle reader can detect a note of gaiety here today, it is there for a reason. I have found a craftsman who loves his work beyond all things.

He is John M. Verkuilen, president and sole employee of the Verkuilen Ornamental Iron shop which stands here at the tip of Manitowoc county on Highway 141.

A craftsman skilled in the arts of creating ornamental iron is necessarily a fellow who is skilled also in welding, blacksmithing, forging, mechanics, designing and creative imagination. And Verkuilen, a gentle modest man, can do all these things inordinately well — but his drive to become a master is always operative.

"Creating things that are useful and beautiful gives one great satisfaction," he said. "In my work there is always the challenge to do a job better than it has ever been done before," he added.

Dedicated Man

To that end, Verkuilen dedicates himself. His hobby is his work; his study of his work is his recreation. His sparetime reading goes deep into the ancient and modern arts of ornamental iron techniques.

This able man of many creative skills considers himself one of the most fortunate of men. When he was a young man he worked briefly at various jobs — in a paper mill, in lumber and as a mail carrier in his home town of Little Chute — but there was small satisfaction in them. He sought something without realizing what it was.

One day in 1928 fate took him by the hand and led him to apply for work at Kottke's Ornamental Iron shop in Appleton. He got the job and his search had come to an end.

"In a very short time I knew that this was to be my life's work," Verkuilen said. "I have never doubted this from then until now. The satisfaction I have in turning out a good piece of work is amazing. Nobody can ask for much more than that."

At Vocational School

Although then 31 years old, Verkuilen took to his work with a will. He took night courses at Appleton Vocational school, and he embarked on a series of private studies which he has never really stopped. All of the arts of this ancient craft were goals he drove himself to reach. He switched from Kottke's works to Kool's Ornamental Iron works, also in Appleton. "I worked with good people," he said. "Real artists who could make a scissors or an automobile engine. I have never stopped learning, but I would give five years of my life to know more than I do now."

Found Fame, Too

Now 51, Verkuilen's work has brought him contentment and pleasure and some fame, too. A few years ago while working in a gymnasium, he noted the need for an insert within the basket for the basketball team he watched practicing.

He hurried home and invented a detachable metal frame which, when inserted with the basket, aids coaches in teaching rebound and tip-in techniques. The invention proved a blessing to basketball coaches and brought orders from all over the world.

The Verkuilen invention is able part, might take him several years in his spare time, but, he added, "it would be wonderful fun."

He also invented an adjustable catch for track hurdles to make them high or low in a twinkling. This invention, too, was a success.

The able artisan who has used his talents on construction of everything metal from a firing pin for a rifle to a massive, ornamental fire escape, likes his jobs to be tough and demanding. ("I like the challenge in it.")

Restored Armor

Most of his jobs are interesting to him, but he liked especially one he had a few years ago—the restoration of some 13th century coats of armor. ("In three of them I found a hidden stamp which read 'Made in Boston'. I didn't have the heart to spoil the owner's pride and pleasure; I never told him.")

Verkuilen's wife, too, has a sense of pride in his work and in her own, too, for she is often helpful to him in assembly work on ornamental church altars and similar work.

"She'd like to learn forging, too," he said, "but it takes a special knack and much experience."

The fond hope of this happy man is to find some time somehow to take on "some dares" he has given himself. He would like to make a complete, authentic suit of armor all by hand. He figures that the construction of all of the pieces, each bolt and move-

Has 2 Children

Verkuilen has a son, LeRoy, 18, who is in the U. S. Marines; and a daughter, Christie, 18, who attends St. Joseph's academy in Green Bay.

Neither of his children have any special interest in the ancient trade which Verkuilen plies so well, but his son is soon to be back in civilian life.

"Maybe," Verkuilen said, "he'll have changed his mind of June. How much can I about getting into this work. It would be nice if he has because I know he'd find contentment and happiness — just as I have."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. I am 66 years old and I have worked for the same company for 10 years. I will have earned about $2,400 in 1959 before I retire at the end of the year. How much can I make the rest of the year and still be able to get social security checks for the last six months of the year?

A. If you neither earn over $100 in wages, nor render substantial services in self-employment in July and the remaining months of the year, you may receive your checks for the last six months of the year, regardless of your total earnings for the year.

Q. I am a widow receiving social security benefits. I expect to take a small part-time job next week. Is it all right if I just use my husband's social security number since I am receiving benefits on his record?

A. No. Everyone who works in work covered by social security must use his own social security number. You start working. Social security office for a social security office for a card because you must show

Annexation Depends on Sewer Study

Worry Over Ability To Serve Industry Park Brings Tie Vote

The so-called Schuh annexation apparently will depend on a sewer study by Director of Public Works Duszynski. Some 43 acres west of the city at the Chicago and North Western Railway company tracks were proposed for annexation Monday by four heirs of the Matt Schuh estate and the railroad. The land — a slightly larger than normal railroad right-of-way strip is included — would put the city limits contiguous to the city's nearly 40-acre industrial development park and permit annexation of the park. Won't Guarantee (Annexation of the park has been sought since last May. The railroad right-of-way is contiguous to the park on the park's south line; the Schuh land is contiguous to the right-of-way on the right-of-way's south line.) When the annexation petition was presented to the board of public works Tuesday, one alderman wanted to know positively that joining of the Schuh property with the railroad strip would not mean a cutback in the amount of sewer service the city could give the park. Duszynski said he doubted the Schuh land would affect the sewer service, but he wouldn't guarantee it until he has studied sewer limitations and possible uses of the park. Only Part Essential A vote showed the board tied, 4-to-4, on annexation and Duszynski was ordered to make the study. The alderman who questioned the sewer capabilities said it is essential to annex the railroad right-of-way only to open the way for annexation of the park. It is strange, he said, that the city couldn't get the railroad to petition for annexation during a 6-month period, but the Schuhs could in about a month. (The Schuh annexation was filed in December and when it was presented to the board, City Atty. Jury suggested that it be joined with the railroad land to save money. He said he was unaware there was a question about sewer capabilities.) Jury said annexation by the railroad alone would take about three months. The procedure would have to start over, he said, because the city must take all of the land in the Schuh petition, or none.

Mayor to Propose Woman for Acting City Relief Post Mayor Mitchell Tuesday notified city councilmen he will appoint Miss Gladys Stolt as acting relief director tonight. Miss Stolt, who has worked in the relief department for some time, will serve until the council elects a full-time director, probably at the April 1 council meeting.

1,769 Tri-City Scouts Joined 1958 Events

Annual District Reports Highlight Award Dinner for 175 at Foster School

A total of 1,769 scouts participated in six 1958 council and district events, Fred Granberg, Tri-City district activities chairman, told more than 175 boy scouts and their leaders Tuesday night. Granberg, speaking at the annual district meeting at Foster school, said that the district has scheduled a first-aid-o-ree from 7 to 9 p.m. Saturday night at the Lawrence college gymnasium. The area's patrols will take part in the first aid contest, stressing competition on first aid problems. Each patrol entered has been asked to select a judge. Granberg also noted that all scouting units in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton took part in Boy Scout week activities. Explorer-ree Set The Tri-City explorer-ree is scheduled for June 5, 6 and 7. The Rev. H. Shelby Lee, pastor of the First Congregational church, talked on "Leadership and Character Building" after the potluck supper. Dwight Donelson, Valley council executive, greeted the group and council president Oliver C. Wordell, Brillion, gave highlights of the council's annual activities. Scout commissioner Phillip Leekley's report, presented by Ralph Suess, Jr., noted that 79 per cent of the district leaders have taken formal training sessions in scout leadership. The 1959 goal was to train 90 per cent of the 28 neighborhood scout commissioners in formal sessions. In other reports, Suess, head of leadership training for the district, said that 35 out of 59 top unit leaders have completed their formal training. Fred Hollenbeck's report on camping activity, given by Bert Kellogg, stated that 47 per cent of the district's 997 scouts and explorers were enrolled in summer camp at Gardner Dam by June 30. Advancement chairman Richard Johnson's report given by Kellogg, said that 1,675 out of a 2,491 scout membership for the district, or 67 per cent, had advanced in rank during the past year. Expansion Plans The district plans to add 69 new packs, troops and posts in 1959, according to Carl Roehl, organization extension chairman. Roehl said that the goal for scout membership would be 2,675. With Dec. 31 as the finishing date, Roehl said that he hoped the district would have 184 new scouts enrolled. The report of the nominating committee for the election of officers has been postponed temporarily, according to Fred Sordahl, Tri-City district chairman. Sordahl said that the nomi-

Teen Town Name Picked For Center

Teen Town will be the name of the city's first youth center at Reid Municipal Golf course clubhouse. The center's youth advisory committee picked the name Tuesday night, Recreation Director Elmer W. Grover said today. Grover last week rejected Rock'en Town, a suggested name selected by lot from among a host of similar entries. The center will be open Tuesday and Thursday nights until April 1, under conditions set down for the trial period by the park board and recreation commission. Grover has called the center an unqualified success and is mapping plans for its reopening after the golf season in the fall. nating committee has rescheduled their meeting for next week and that ballots listing the slate of officers will be mailed to all district committee members. Over 700 adult leaders participate in the district's annual program which includes a membership of over 3,000 boys in the three cities. General chairman for the event was Robert Schwartz, Menasha, Robert Greenwalt, Appleton, handled the attendance. Other committee members were Carl Roehl, Appleton, arrangements, and Edmund C. # Skat Surprised To Learn He Has Been Fired

Carroll Basketball Coach Compiled 40-47 Record

Waukesha — (U) — Al Skat, basketball and baseball coach at Carroll college, said today he was more surprised than anyone to learn he had been released.

"It really caught me off guard," Skat said. "I was ready to buy a lot and build a house for my family when it was dropped in my lap." He also said he didn't have anything "in the fire and the situation looks pretty rough because most posts will be filled" when his contract expires in June.

Asked Him

Dr. Robert Steele, the president of the college, said the athletic board asked Skat to resign, but when he refused, decided not to offer him a new contract.

There was no public announcement by the college for the athletic board's action. Unofficial sources hinted the board was displeased with Skat for not carrying on a more intensive recruiting program.

"I'm also surprised at the recruiting idea," Skat said. "When I came here in 1955 things were a mess. I think I've built up a pretty fine basketball team and next season it's going to be a real dandy, and so will the baseball team."

Turned Away 100

So far as recruiting at Carroll goes, Skat said, he has had to turn away about 100 promising prospects because of the school's low aid program for its athletes.

Skat, 38, will stay on this spring to coach the baseball team. His basketball teams, during his service at Carroll, won 40 and lost 47, including a 13-11 record for the 1958-59 campaign. Skat's baseball teams have won 28 and lost 17.

Before coming to Carroll, Skat was basketball coach at St. Norbert College from 1950-55.

Pick Kimberly To Take Crown

5 of 8 State Meet Coaches Select Papermakers to Win

Madison — (U) — Kimberly is picked to win the Wisconsin high school basketball championship by five of the eight coaches who have teams that qualified for the finals this weekend.

Two of the coaches favor Milwaukee North. One strings along with Superior Central.

Taking Part

The coaches taking part in an Associated Press poll were Harry Gibbs of Eau Claire, Carl Huebner of Sheboygan, Dick Wadewitz of Milwaukee, Gil Frank of Kimberly, Vic Anderson of Milwaukee, North, Bruce Fossum, of Green Bay West, Ken Anderson of Superior Central and Rof Martin of La Crosse Logan.

Gibbs, Huebner, Wadewitz, Vic Anderson and Fossum favored Kimberly, which ranks No. 1 in the Big 16 rating and has won 23 straight. Kimberly's coach cast his ballot for North. So did Ken Anderson.

The lone vote for Superior came from Martin.

All of the coaches, agreed, however, that "we are not going to Madison to lose."

Miami Beach, Fla. — Rudy Sawyer, 150, New York, out-punted Kid Fichique, 146, Havana, 10.

Haney Says 2nd Base Is Secondary Worry

Bradenton, Fla. — (U) — "Everybody's worried about second base but me," said Fred Haney.

"Heck, we've got more worries than that," said the stubby skipper of the Milwaukee Braves.

What problems could the National league champs have that were more important than finding a replacement for "Red" Schoendienst, the take-charge guy who had meant a pennant two years ago and now was fighting TB.

"We've got other worries," Haney insisted. "I'm not going to name them. But you'll find out about them. I'd say second base is no more than third or fourth among our worries."

"Red" Wasn't Great

"What the heck, 'Red' wasn't real great last season, but we won, didn't we? We had a lot of guys with bad years — Mathews, Logan and the big guy, Covington, with the bum leg and I'd have him sometimes and then I wouldn't."

Outagamie Board Backs Kimberly With Resolution

The Outagamie county board of supervisors gave its official support to Kimberly High school's state tournament basketball team Tuesday in the form of a resolution.

The concluding paragraph stated, "Therefore, be it resolved . . . that we extend our heartfelt congratulations to the Kimberly high school basketball team for their outstanding record and to their coach, Gilbert Frank, who has done a remarkable job. We are confident and hopeful that this team will extend its record of 23 consecutive victories and return to Kimberly with the 1959 state high school basketball championship trophy. We want to assure the team that we will be with them in spirit throughout the entire tournament."

Will Battle Small but Agile Milwaukee Lincoln Thursday; Jansen Leads Tourney Scoring

BY JOHN L. FAUSTIAN

Having achieved unchallenged superiority in its own conference, region and section, Kimberly High school Thursday begins a campaign to extend its basketball empire throughout the remainder of Wisconsin.

The Papermakers have

Ned Wulk Will Be Interviewed By UW Tonight

'Tex' Winter Also Contacted; Carnevale Out of Running

Madison — (U) — At least three top-ranking basketball coaches were reported today being considered by the University of Wisconsin athletic board for the post vacated by Harold "Bud" Foster.

A fourth coach, Ben Carnevale of Navy, took himself out of the running Tuesday night.

The board has several other prospects for the job but at the present time, at least, the three most prominently mentioned are "Tex" Winter of Kansas State, Ray Meyer of De Paul and Ned Wulk (Marion, Wis., native) of Arizona State.

Winter 'Very Happy' Athletic Director Ivy Williamson of Wisconsin said Tuesday night that he had conferred by telephone with Winter and that the board planned interviews here with Meyer this afternoon and with Wulk tonight.

Winter, he said, told him that he was "very happy" at Kansas State but would think the matter over and call him back, Winter coached at Marquette 1951-53.

Carnevale said at Annapolis he was flattered by Wisconsin's interest but had decided "the Naval academy is the place for me." He said he discussed the situation with his wife and family and they all decided that he should stay with Navy.

In 13 seasons at Navy, Carnevale's teams have won 232 games and lost 103.

Joe Louis Takes His 3rd Bride—a Lawyer

Los Angeles — (U) — Joe Louis has taken his third bride — a prosperous Los Angeles criminal lawyer.

Mrs. Martha M. Jefferson and the former heavyweight champion of the world were married secretly a week ago today in Winterhaven, Calif., across the Colorado river from Yuma, Ariz. She is 46, Louis 45.

It was her fourth marriage. Louis has two children by the former Marva Trotter of Detroit. His second wife was Rose Morgan, New York city cosmetics manufacturer.

been accorded top billing in the annual state basketball spectacular, which is being staged this year to find a titled successor to Madison East.

Proves its Right

Top-rated Kimberly will appear Thursday (7 p. m.) in the third game of the inaugural program. Its opponent will be Milwaukee Lincoln, only a "special mention" entry on the final "Big 16" ratings but a team that proved its right to be in the elite Madison field of eight by tipping over two conference champions in regional and sectional play.

Pressure—the kind generated by the importance of the games and the presence of more than 13,000 noisy fans—will be on all eight tournament teams. But, the top team going in probably is under more pressure than the others. Everyone covets the honor of stopping the No. 1 entry.

Kimberly has been playing in that kind of atmosphere all season and has brushed aside the pressure remarkably well in ringing up 23 straight victories.

Kimberly Better Defensively Kimberly and Lincoln promise plenty of pyrotechnics before a decision is reached on which team enters the championship semi-finals. They are the two highest-scoring teams in the tourney.

Lincoln has a 2-point per-game edge on Kimberly—75 to 73. The Papermakers, however, have a decided defensive bulge — restricting foes to a rate of 54.4 points a game, while the Comets have allowed 62.1.

Kimberly will face the opening tip as a favorite, on two counts: vastly superior height and a better season record. Not a Papermaker starter is under 6 feet, and the front line runs an enviable 6-3 (Jack Lamers), 6-3 (Darrell Jansen) and 6-5 (Tom Rooyackers).

The tallest Lincolnite, on the other hand, is Andy Chesser at 6-1. Only two of the other 11 squad members are as tall as 6 feet.

No Shoo-in

Despite this disparity in altitude, Kimberly will be no shoo-in as rebound boss of the game. The agile Comets amazed spectators with their jumping ability all along the tourney trail. In depositing Madison East, (75-73) for example, Lincoln gave away two inches per man, yet rebounded its foes.

Lincoln is an aggressive unit that likes to run and has done well with the press in many games. The game could develop into quite a foot race, since the Papermakers can really leg it for boys of their size.

Lincoln, one of the only two "southern" schools in the tourney (the other is Milwaukee North), will be playing in its first state meet. It will put an 11-game win streak on the line.

Coach Dick Wadewitz' Comets have two low-point losses among their only four Madison — (U) — If the Kimberly — Milwaukee Lincoln game Thursday night in the Wisconsin high school basketball tournament is close in the fourth quarter, look for the fur to fly.

Both the top-ranked Papermakers and the unranked Comets usually sparkle in the midnight stages of a ball game.

Kimberly is the only team here with a perfect slate.

Great Believer "We don't look for any easy ones. Coach Gil Frank said, "and we never have. I guess you could almost call us the giant killers. We figure we're better off playing the so-called big ones. Six of our victories this season were against Fox River Valley teams."

Frank pointed out that as the No. 1 team in the final Big 16 ratings, Kimberly has been a marked team for the last three weeks or so.

"I'm a great believer in psychology," Frank said. "I've had to use it a lot this year because everybody has been laying for us. You've

Kimberly Citizens are Fired Up Over Their State Tourney Team

Tournament Talk Takes Precedence Over Everything Else; Tickets are Scarce

BY MIKE DREW

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Kimberly — In enthusiasm, per capita, citizens of this Outagamie county village this week could certainly out-Milwaukee even the beer capital at World Series time.

Talk about the state tournament — bound Kimberly High Papermakers has taken precedence over the weather—and that's something in this winter to end all winters.

Those townspeople who are unable to beg, borrow, or steal a ticket to Thursday night's tourney opener with Milwaukee Lincoln—and the tickets are scarce—are almost certain to be within listening range of a radio.

The pressure on Kimberly High Principal Ray Hamann for adult tickets has been terrific and requests are far greater than the number of ducats allotted Kimberly. Some disgruntled fans are asking "where do all the tickets in that 13,000-seat fieldhouse go, to Madison people?"

To Get 100

Kimberly, and all the other schools in the state meet, were to receive 100 season reserved seat tickets to the tourney today. Players' parents and Kimberly High season ticket holders get first preference on those, and they will take a big chunk of them.

Another 117 single-night admissions for Thursday night's games will be available to Kimberly people. A further allotment will be made available for subsequent tourney sessions after the opening round results are in.

All Kimberly requests (225) for student tickets will be filled. But, Hamann was unable to obtain nearly as many adult tickets as he asked for. Several hundred Kimberly adult ticket applications will be unfilled, he said.

Pep Assembly

A school pep assembly at 10:30 this morning sent the Papermakers on their way south with cheers of the student body ringing in their ears. Team Captain Jack Lamers presented Superintendent of Schools John Gertrits the Neenah sectional tournament trophy at the assembly.

Adults in this village of 3,179 souls (1950 census) had a "pep meeting" of their own Tuesday night at which they listened to a tape recording of the broadcast of the sectional finals victory over Manitowoc.

All but about 125 youngsters in a student body of 367 will be attending Thursday night's game. Most of the KHS students will be taking the bus down and back for each day's game. A round-trip price of $1 per day has made this more attractive, financially, than staying in Madison.

Research Trip A "research trip" down this community's main streets earlier this week proved to the writer that Kimberlyites are talking about little else but basketball.

The first words I heard spoken in Johnny's restaurant, 104 E. Kimberly avenue, after sitting down at the counter were: "Hey, Dick, are you

Yanks Continue Quest of Nat Relief Hyde

Sievers' Homer Helps Washington To 4-1 Triumph

By the Associated Press
Flashed with success but apprehensive about the quality of their pitching staff, the world champion New York Yankees today prepared to sit down at the bargaining table.

Object: A trade with Washington.
Subject: Relief specialist Dick Hyde.

Price: Unknown, but expected to include at least a trio of Yankee rookies or bench-warmer.

Hyde compiled a 10-3 won-lost record and a brilliant 1.75 earned run average while saving a host of games for the last-place Senators last year.

Awaits Better Offer
Washington owner Calvin Griffith, apparently willing to part with his bullpen ace in order to bolster other areas, has been holding out for a better offer from Yankee general manager George Weiss.

So far the Yanks have offered shortstop Fritz Brickell (.266 at Denver last year) and outfielder John Reed (.309 at New Orleans), both rookies. Weiss was expected to add first baseman Frank Leja (.263 at New Orleans) to the bundle when the officials meet at St. Petersburg, Fla., today.

The Senators defeated Pittsburgh, 4-1, Tuesday in one of the three exhibition games played as rain idled most of the clubs for the second day. In other games, Boston beat San Francisco, 6-1, and Cleveland thumped Chicago's Cubs, 10-5.

Hyde allowed the Pirates' only run but pitched strongly in relief of "Chuck" Stobbs, who blanked Pittsburgh for the first five innings. Roy Sievers gave Washington all the runs it needed with a 2-run homer in the first.

Frank Sullivan and Herb Motford limited the hard-hitting Giants to four hits. Ted Lepcio homered for the Red Sox, who boosted their exhibition record to 8-1.
Cleveland's 13-hit attack, including Woody Held's homer, was too much for the Cubs, who got home runs from Ernie Banks, Lee Walls and Bobby Thomson.

got to be up for the state tournament, or you're finished before you start."

This is Lincoln's first trip to the state meet, but Wade isn't especially concerned about the jitters.

"The sectionals weren't exactly quiet," he said.

The Cornets don't use a pivotman as such because their only 6-footer starter, Andy Chesser, is only 6-foot-1. All five can play any position.

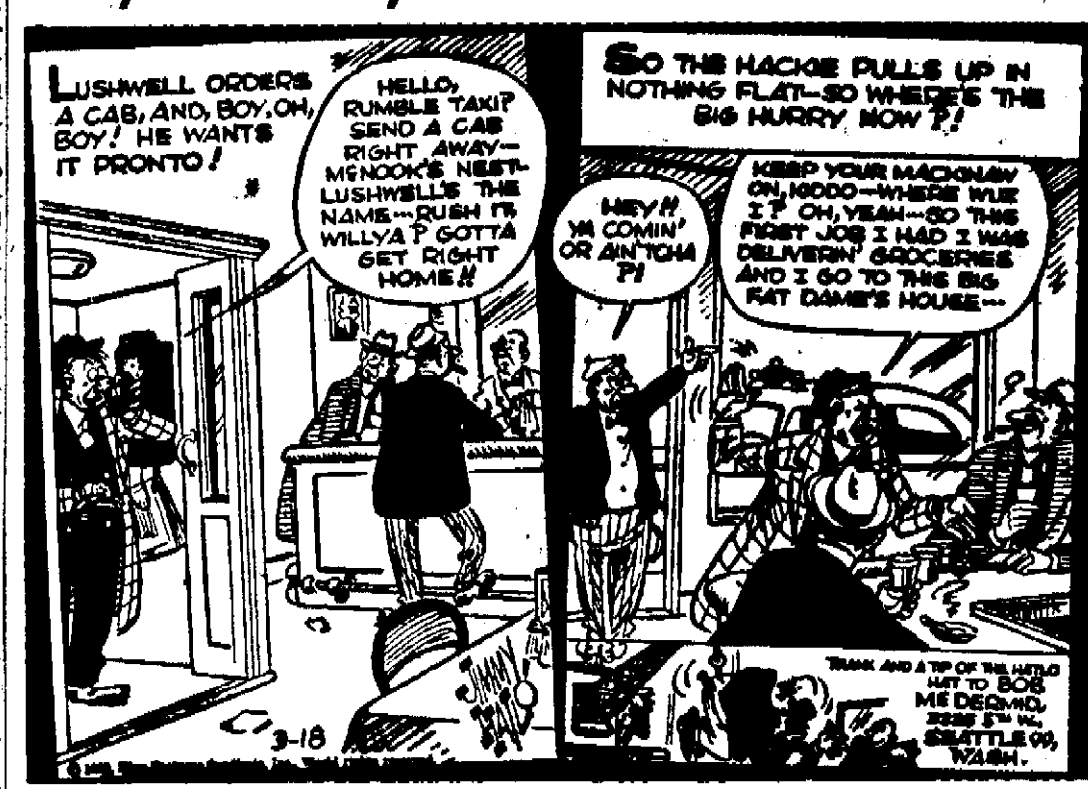

Joining Chesser, a steady if not spectacular scorer and a rubber-legged rebounder, are Harold Lamar, Clifton Owens and Paul Ramseur, all 5-11, and Guy Vance, 5-9. Charles Houston is the sixth man.

"By and large, it's been a team effort," Wadewitz said. "It's hard to pick out an individual star."

"I've stressed defense because of our lack of depth, too. We've got six who can hit. I can't go beyond six without hurting."

Seattle — Bobby Hicks, 135, Seattle, outpointed Teddy Hall, 135, Seattle, 12.

Providence College '5' Van Geffin's 620 Triple Cops Honors

Gains NIT Semis With 2-Overtime, 75 to 72 Victory

New York — "It's unbelievable. It's unbelievable." That's what Coach Joe Mulaney of Providence college kept shouting Tuesday night after his "Cinderella" team beat second-seeded St. Louis, 75-72, in double overtime to reach the semi-finals of the National Invitational tournament.

New York university also advanced to Thursday's semi-finals with an easy 63-48 victory over Oklahoma City. This second game of the basketball doubleheader at Madison Square garden was strictly an anti-climax to the crowd of 14,269.

Providence, which upset Manhattan, 68-66, last Saturday in the last six seconds of play, now is pitted against St. John's of New York while NYU goes against top-seeded Bradley.

Didn't Lose Poise

Providence didn't lose its poise when St. Louis took an early 18-9 lead. Neither did it get flustered in the last minute of regulation play when Len Wilkens, its southpaw star, fouled Pete McCaffrey. Pete made good on both charity tosses and St. Louis took a seemingly winning edge, 61-59. Wilkens himself flipped in the tying basket with 34 seconds left.

It was 65-65 in the first overtime when the Friars got a break. They lost the ball on a bad pass out of bounds with 47 seconds left. But Big Bob Ferry, who led St. Louis with 29 points, missed a shot with only three seconds to go. Ferry did put St. Louis ahead, 68-67, on a 3-point play in the second overtime, but soph Johnny Egan then canned two free throws to put the Friars in front for good at 69-68. Wilkens scored 30 points and Egan 29 to pace the Friars.

Five Teams Enter YMCA Volleyball Tourney Saturday

Five teams are entered in the Appleton YMCA Volleyball tournament Saturday.

Teams, with manager's name in parentheses are: KC (Gale Crist), Marathon (Larry Walburn), McHugh Septic (Dick Rinehart), Y's Men (Dick Plucker) and 'Y' Class (Irv Roberts).

Matches are slated every half hour, starting at 1:30 p.m. Each match will consist of two 12-point games.

Don Van Geffin smashed a 620 threesome for Connie's bar in Hahn's Major league Tuesday night. Bill Noffke jolted a 244 for Schaefer dairy and wound up with a 602.
Behnke's clothes (60 - 18) holds a 12-game lead.

reversals. They lost to Lake Geneva, 63-61, in the season opener and to flashy Milwaukee North, 66-62. Lincoln has also lost to Elkhorn, 78-71, and to Milwaukee Washington, 82-74 (a defeat the Cornets avenged in regional play when they whipped the Milwaukee City conference champs, 76-63).

The other conference titlist Lincoln downed was Big Eight ruler Janesville — in the sectional finale. Lincoln scored nine points in the last 1:15 to pull out an 84-78 win.

Good Balance
In that important win, Lincoln flashed the "Kimberly type" scoring balance. Paul Ramseur hit 20; Chesser, 14; Harold Lamar and Clifton Owens, 13 apiece; and Guy Vance and "Chuck" Houston, 12 each. Chesser is the team's leading scorer for the season.

Kimberly's tour n a m e n t scoring leader has been Jansen, with 90 points for the five games. Bunched behind him are Lamers, 76; Don Hearden, 72; and Rooyakkers, 66. Other tourney points were contributed by Dave Minten, 27; Jeff Vander Velden, 11; Dick Bonzelet and Dave Kringle, two each; and Tom Peerboom, one.

Kimberly's only possible weakness is a shortage of reserves (there's quite a drop-off after the No. 6 man, Vander Velden), and it remains to be seen whether the demanding state tourney schedule will create a serious problem. Thus far, Kimberly's "Big 6" has allayed all fears about its ability to handle the situation.

Hilltoppers, Wildcats to Play In Seventh Grade Cage Finals

The Hilltoppers and Wildcats will meet in the finals after capturing opening games in the Appleton Recreation department's Seventh Grade Basketball tournament. The Hilltoppers dropped the Bucketeers, 24-19, as Bill Timmers tossed in 13 points for the victors and Jim Bertachy and Bill Feind hit six apiece for the Bucketeers.

The Wildcats smashed the Globetrotters, 51-20. Bock and Schumaker scored 12 tallies for the winners. Roemer of the Globetrotters hit the game's high total of 24 tallies.

In Sixth Grade tourney first round action the Hawks stopped the Commandos, 24-18. Hart's 12 points topped the winners. Meythaler and Murne scored eight points for the Celtics in their 30-17 win over the Eagles. Ebben hit eight for the Eagles.

The Trotters downed the Bruins, 9-7. The Badgers beat the Jaguars, 19-2. Abel hit nine points for the Badgers. The Globetrotters pocketed a 16-2 win over the Hellcats. Pankratz scored seven points. Abel's 12 markers paced the Eagles to a 22-6 Fifth Grade tourney first round win over the Hotshots. The Scorpions tripped the Midgits, 36-1, behind the 10-point scoring of Fuerst. G. Lutz and Ehlike each contributed eight.

The Redskins blanked the Cubs, 9-0. The Aces were a 16-6 winner over the Colts. Winter of the Aces scored six.

Boston — Paul Pender, 1804; Brookline, Mass., outpointed Ralph "Tiger" Jones, 1574; Yonkers, N. Y., 10.

Delany to Hit Books Instead of Boards Friday, Starts Rhubarb

Hollywood, Fla. — Ron Delany, the speedy scholar from Ireland, will hit the books and not the boards of Friday's indoor track meet at Cleveland.

The champion miler's cancellation drew angry protest from the meet sponsors but got support from an Amateur Athletic union official.

"Can't Help It"
Either way, Delany said Tuesday night he is sticking by his withdrawal from the Cleveland K. of C. meet because of "study commitments."

"I definitely will not run," said the lean, ascetic-looking Villanova student shortly before he won his race here.

Asked if his cancellation would make him liable to suspension, Delany said "I don't know. If the Cleveland AAU doesn't consider it a justifiable reason, I can't help it."

The Cleveland K. of C. had centered its meet around the mile, in which Delany was given a chance to break four minutes for the first time indoors. He set a 4:01.4 world record this month in New York and has broken four minutes three times outdoors.

Delany husbanded his energies and won with ease Tuesday night over Peter Close of St. John university, Tom O'Riordan of Idaho State and Lazo Tabori of Santa Clara, Calif., in 4:07.8.

Providence, which upset Manhattan, 68-66, last Saturday in the last six seconds of play, now is pitted against St. John's of New York while NYU goes against top-seeded Bradley.

Kimberly's Enthusiasm At High Pitch

going to Madison this week end?"

Replied Dick (Dick Hollihan, proprietor of Wydevan's Shoe store) "If it wasn't so close to Easter I would, for certain." (With Easter just 11 weeks away this is a busy time for shoe salesmen).

Big Celebration

The conversation in "Shy" Bouressa's bowling alleys, just a half a block down the street, was about the celebrating that went on in Kimberly after Saturday night's win.

"They just kept playing the Kimberly High school song (The Notre Dame Victory March) on the juke box in here over and over again," says Bouressa, an avid Papermaker backer.

Adult townspeople thought about chartering a bus to Madison, as they had for Kimberly's regular-season game at Shawano earlier, Bouressa said. But the differing work schedules of people going to the state meet makes that difficult.

In Dud's Inn, 150 N. Main street, someone was reading the account of Saturday night's sectional win.

Four Misses

"Manitowoc only missed four free throws," the reader observed to a companion. "(Dick) Hall made 10 for 11. He's sure a ballplayer."

"I'm glad they're playing in the evening Thursday. I won't have to find a way to listen to the game at work."

(Hundreds of transistor radios, reportedly, popped up at Kimberly - Clark's Kimberly mill during the 6-12 evening shift Saturday. Production went on but the wholehearted attention of many men wasn't on their jobs.)

Kimberly fans seem to think their favorites have a better chance of going all the way to a state title this year than did the 1949 or 1955 state tournament quintets.

"They're one of the best balanced high school clubs I've ever seen," is the way Bill VanHout, a K-C personnel department employee puts it.

Van Hout, the father of one of the Papermaker cheerleaders, has missed only two Kimberly games all season "and one of them," he says, "was so I could see Wilt 'The Stilt' Chamberlain play in Green Bay."

Bill, who is being given a 2-day vacation by his boss to attend the state tourney, will be driving the KHS cheerleaders to Madison.

Ed Hofkens, of the Hofkens Supply company, also missed just two Kimberly High games and also cites the club's fine balance as a reason for his optimism over its tourney chances. Ed also is going to Madison.

"I don't think a community could be more back of a team than Kimberly is," says Hofkens. "About 800 tickets were sold to Kimberly people for the regional finals in Menasha."

Same Number

(Hamann verifies this, and says that the same number of sectional tickets went to Kimberlyites).

Elmer VanderVelde, coach of the Holy Name Grade school team and another regular attendant at KHS varsity games, thinks that playing its first game in the evening will help the Kimberly High quintet.

"I think that playing our first game in the afternoon in 1955, with the light streaming in the windows of that huge fieldhouse, upset the boys. Playing at night will make the place seem a little less big, it will bring in the walls."

All the Papermakers' backers aren't men and all aren't from Kimberly.

Combined Locks

Mrs. John Menting, Combined Locks, also plans to attend the state meet.

She's a special booster of junior forward Darrell Jensen, the only Papermaker regular who hails from Combined Locks. "The people from Combined Locks are behind the team as much, or more so, as are the Kimberly people," Mrs. Menting says.

"The players are just wonderful kids," she observes. "If they play as they did against Manitowoc they'll have no trouble."

Another rabid feminine supporter who had a season pass to the Kimberly home games was Miss Judy Harker. Judy, a sister to several star Kimberly athletes, was a Paper-

Lawrence Says: Ike's Call for Defense Money Labeled Wrong

'Give Away' Term Misleading; Budget Program Is Vital

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — If the American people could express their most important wish today, it would be: "keep us out of war at any cost."

Yet, when out of a national budget of $77 billion, the president asks for a $3,930,000,000 to keep American boys from fighting abroad, and calls for a mutual security program to bolster our allies, this is derided as a foreign aid program or a give-away.

The label is wrong. It's really a keep-us-out-of-war program.

Few of the critics realize the present explosive situation or how interrelated America's fate is with other free countries. If they do realize it, they fail to see how many billions more our defenses would cost if America had to do the job alone. That's why President Eisenhower's television address Monday night was so important to the country.

For the president had no sooner announced last week that he was asking congress for $3,930,000,000 when from Capitol Hill came predictions that the expenditure would be cut by a billion. Acting Secretary of State Herter promptly said that if any such reduction were made it would serve notice on the world that we are weakening in our determination.

Just why some of the legislators regard any money spent abroad as either a gift or a throw-away is hard to understand unless they think our people really can be misled by such distortions. Certainly, as sometimes charged, there's waste in the spending of American funds in other countries because the United States cannot always control how other governments disburse the money they receive. But, conceding that there is some waste, it is a fact that in war itself there is even greater waste. The true test is whether war is prevented. Thus far the United States has managed with the help of strong allies to keep us out of a third world war.

Combined Effort

It sometimes isn't realized how much America's own allies have been spending since the close of World War II. Rather the impression is fostered by the critics that the United States is putting up all the money for international defense or mutual security. The president in his message a few days ago to congress said:

"Over the years of our combined effort, these allies and friends have spent on these forces some $141 billion, more than six times the $22 billion we have contributed in military assistance."

During calendar year 1956 they contributed $19 billion of their own funds to the support of these forces.

"Without the strength of our allies our nation would be turned into an armed camp and our people subjected to a heavy draft and an annual cost of many billions of dollars above our present military budget."

What perhaps isn't generalized underlines the importance of mutual assistance in maintaining the stability of other nations. If there were no stable governments among our allies America would not have strategic bases overseas. The president said on this point:

Mutual Security

"Through the mutual security program our friends among the free world nations make available to us for the use of our forces some 250 bases in the most strategic locations. They support ground forces totaling more than five million men stationed at points where danger of local aggression is most acute, based on their own soil and prepared to defend their own homes. They man air forces of about 30,000 aircraft of which nearly 14,000 are jets, 23 times the jet strength of 1950 when the program started. They also have naval forces totaling 2,500 combat vessels with some 1,700 in active fleets or their supporting activities."

Dissenting members of congress often concede that the military program is logical but they claim the economic support abroad is questionable and this they would cut. In doing so they would strike a blow at the morale of the countries affected. For within economic stability, political chaos ensues, and then the communists find fertile ground for exploitation or even overthrow of existing governments. The communist intrusion in Iraq lately, for example, has unsettled the entire Middle East. The communist tactics in Africa, Asia and Latin America have been supported by Soviet measures in the economic field.

So it's a dangerous international situation which calls for American expenditures to bolster here and abroad our defenses — politically, economically and militarily. From a gross alliance comes firmness in a crisis as is the case today when Moscow is testing the west. The president says the west will not surrender.

He can say this convincingly because the western alliance in the last ten years has been built on a strong foundation.

It is to maintain that strength that the mutual security program, or what might better be called a keep-us-out-of-war program, is really directed.

Lawrence

can boys from fighting abroad, and calls for a mutual security program to bolster our allies, this is derided as a foreign aid program or a give-away.

The label is wrong. It's really a keep-us-out-of-war program.

Few of the critics realize

the present explosive situation or how interrelated America's fate is with other free countries.

If they do realize it, they fail to see how many billions more our defenses would cost if America had to do the job alone.

That's why President Eisenhower's television address Monday night was so important to the country.

For the president had no sooner announced last week that he was asking congress for $3,930,000,000 when from Capitol Hill came predictions that the expenditure would be cut by a billion.

Acting Secretary of State Herter promptly said that if any such reduction were made it would serve notice on the world that we are weakening in our determination.

Just why some of the legislators regard any money spent abroad as either a gift or a throw-away is hard to understand unless they think our people really can be misled by such distortions.

Certainly, as sometimes charged, there's waste in the spending of American funds in other countries because the United States cannot always control how other governments disburse the money they receive.

But, conceding that there is some waste, it is a fact that in war itself there is even greater waste.

The true test is whether war is prevented.

Thus far the United States has managed with the help of strong allies to keep us out of a third world war.

It sometimes isn't realized how much America's own allies have been spending since the close of World War II.

Rather the impression is fostered by the critics that the United States is putting up all the money for international defense or mutual security.

The president in his message a few days ago to congress said:

"Over the years of our combined effort, these allies and friends have spent on these forces some $141 billion, more than six times the $22 billion we have contributed in military assistance."

During calendar year 1956 they contributed $19 billion of their own funds to the support of these forces.

"Without the strength of our allies our nation would be turned into an armed camp and our people subjected to a heavy draft and an annual cost of many billions of dollars above our present military budget."

ized underlines the importance of mutual assistance in maintaining the stability of other nations.

going to Madison this week end?"

Replied Dick (Dick Hollihan, proprietor of Wydevan's Shoe store) "If it wasn't so close to Easter I would, for certain."

(With Easter just 11 weeks away this is a busy time for shoe salesmen).

Big Celebration

The conversation in "Shy" Bouressa's bowling alleys, just a half a block down the street, was about the celebrating that went on in Kimberly after Saturday night's win.

"They just kept playing the Kimberly High school song (The Notre Dame Victory March) on the juke box in here over and over again," says Bouressa, an avid Papermaker backer.

Adult townspeople thought about chartering a bus to Madison, as they had for Kimberly's regular-season game at Shawano earlier, Bouressa said.

But the differing work schedules of people going to the state meet makes that difficult.

In Dud's Inn, 150 N. Main street, someone was reading the account of Saturday night's sectional win.

Four Misses

"Manitowoc only missed four free throws," the reader observed to a companion.

"(Dick) Hall made 10 for 11. He's sure a ballplayer."

"I'm glad they're playing in the evening Thursday. I won't have to find a way to listen to the game at work."

(Hundreds of transistor radios, reportedly, popped up at Kimberly - Clark's Kimberly mill during the 6-12 evening shift Saturday. Production went on but the wholehearted attention of many men wasn't on their jobs.)

Kimberly fans seem to think their favorites have a better chance of going all the way to a state title this year than did the 1949 or 1955 state tournament quintets.

"They're one of the best balanced high school clubs I've ever seen," is the way Bill VanHout, a K-C personnel department employee puts it.

Van Hout, the father of one of the Papermaker cheerleaders, has missed only two Kimberly games all season "and one of them," he says, "was so I could see Wilt 'The Stilt' Chamberlain play in Green Bay."

Bill, who is being given a 2-day vacation by his boss to attend the state tourney, will be driving the KHS cheerleaders to Madison.

Ed Hofkens, of the Hofkens Supply company, also missed just two Kimberly High games and also cites the club's fine balance as a reason for his optimism over its tourney chances.

Ed also is going to Madison.

"About 800 tickets were sold to Kimberly people for the regional finals in Menasha."

Same Number

(Hamann verifies this, and says that the same number of sectional tickets went to Kimberlyites).

Elmer VanderVelde, coach of the Holy Name Grade school team and another regular attendant at KHS varsity games, thinks that playing its first game in the evening will help the Kimberly High quintet.

"I think that playing our first game in the afternoon in 1955, with the light streaming in the windows of that huge fieldhouse, upset the boys.

Playing at night will make the place seem a little less big, it will bring in the walls."

Combined Locks

Mrs. John Menting, Combined Locks, also plans to attend the state meet.

She's a special booster of junior forward Darrell Jensen, the only Papermaker regular who hails from Combined Locks.

"The people from Combined Locks are behind the team as much, or more so, as are the Kimberly people," Mrs. Menting says.

"If they play as they did against Manitowoc they'll have no trouble."

Another rabid feminine supporter who had a season pass to the Kimberly home games was Miss Judy Harker.

maker cheerleader a few years ago.

Probably just about the only person in Kimberly who isn't talking basketball most of the time this week is Wendell Meade, proprietor of a barber shop at 208 N. Main street.

"I'm just not very interested in sports," Meade says.

Thilco Raises Benefits Under Hospital Plan

Association Lists Over $127,000 Paid Out During 1958

Kaukauna — An increase in benefits under the hospital and surgical insurance program at the Thilmany Pulp and Paper company was announced this week by the Thilmany Employees association, the organization handling the program.

Daily hospital board and room benefits were raised to $10 and the miscellaneous fee coverage was increased to $200. No increase in premium will be passed on to participants as a result of increased benefits, but will be absorbed by the association until information on new life insurance rates is received this summer, according to the announcement.

Members of the Thilmany Employees association, which includes nearly all personnel at the plant, pay 35 per cent of the premium for insurance with the company absorbing the remaining 65 per cent.

Hospitalization and surgical benefits paid Thilco employees in 1958 amounted to over $127,000, according to the announcement. More than $23,000 was paid in off-duty sick benefits and group life insurance in force at the end of the year amounted to slightly less than $8,800,000.

City Attorney Resigns Office Effective April 1

John E. Esler Tells Council of Increasing Work

Kaukauna — John E. Esler, city attorney, informed the council Tuesday night he was resigning effective April 1.

He said the work load of a city attorney is growing steadily and he found it impossible to do justice to the city work and a backlog was piling up. Traffic ordinances must be brought up to date and a gas ordinance is needed but Esler informed the council he would not have time for the work due to press of other duties. The resignation was accepted "with regrets."

Esler was appointed to the office in July, 1957, to fill the unexpired term of Harry McAndrews, who died a few months earlier. Esler ran for the office, unopposed, in April, 1958, and had until 1960 to serve on his present term.

Highway 96 Repair

Council members approved a letter from Mayor Joseph F. Boyorgeon to L. W. Empey, district engineer for the state highway department, asking the engineer if the state in cooperation with the city and county would consider improving a portion of Highway 96 in the city.

The area is located along Plank road and Green Bay road and involves about .6 of a mile in an area rapidly expanding into residential property, according to the mayor.

A letter from American Legion Post 41 asking about land for a clubhouse along Plank road was referred to the finance committee for study.

Aldermen discussed snow removal problems in business districts and decided to call a joint meeting of businessmen and Chamber of Commerce representatives to discuss handling and removal of snow pushed into city streets from private parking lots, driveways and platforms. The city has been handling this service without charge of extra work and added to snow removal budget.

The purchasing committee was authorized to purchase repair parts for the street sweeper at an approximate cost of $1,000 and the engineer was authorized to have a motor replaced in a truck at a cost of $633.

Walter Roloff offered the city the use of three lots on Wisconsin avenue for temporary public parking. He asked fill be made available for the lots and they be rezoned for business purposes.

His proposal was referred to the planning commission for recommendation and to the finance committee for consideration. A bid of $50 for an obsolete snow pushing blade was accepted. After informal discussion with property owners from the town of Buchanan concerning annexation, the city attorney advised a proper public notice of annexation must be given and a formal petition presented to the council from the majority of electors in the area to be annexed.

Push Battle Against Bovine Tuberculosis

Department Requests More Funds to Help Finance Program

Madison — The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture plans to step up its battle against tuberculosis in cattle.

Donald N. McDowell, state director of agriculture, announced the campaign at a hearing on the department's budget before the joint finance committee.

McDowell said the TB scourge still is far from "running rampant" in the state but that the financial loss to farmers makes immediate steps necessary.

Large Share

He said a large share of added funds asked in his budget will go for research and improvements in the department's fight against the disease.

1959 Corn Support Set At $1.12

Minimum Rate Per Bushel Reported by County ASC Head

The price of the 1959 corn crop will be supported at a minimum national average rate of $1.12 per bushel, Martin B. Thorson, chairman of the Waupaca county ASC committee, and Bert Weyenberg, Outagamie county chairman, announced today.

Under the new corn program in effect this year any corn produced in the United States which meets quality and storage requirements is eligible for support at the national average level, with adjustments for grade, quality and other factors.

There are no acreage allotments or designated commercial area for corn. The program is the result of a law approved by more than 70 per cent of farmers voting in a referendum last November.

Average Price

The $1.12 figure represents 90 per cent of a preliminary determination of the average price per bushel received by farmers for corn during the past three years. It is a minimum support price announced in advance of planting time that may not be lowered, but could be increased on the basis of final calculations at the start of the next marketing year.

Under the program in effect for the 1958 corn crop, the national average support rate is $1.36 for farmers who complied with their corn allotments and $1.06 for commercial area producers who did not comply with allotments.

Farmer Gives Up Land Family Worked For 259 Years

With none of his five children inclined to take up farming, the 57-year-old potato grower leased his 60 acres and put his machinery on the auction block during the week-end.

He said industrialized agriculture forced him to either expand or give up the land that was settled by his family in nearby Jamestown in 1700.

Giving up farming made him feel lost, he said, but "I expect to get over the lost feeling soon."

Outline 10-Point Program For Livestock 'Winterization'

A 10-point program for "winterizing" livestock is recommended to farmers by the American Foundation for Animal Health.

Highlights of the plan, designed to provide better winter health and production are:

- 1 - Check sanitation and ventilation facilities of hog and poultry houses to guard against pneumonia and other respiratory diseases.
- 2 - Exercise caution in allowing cattle into drought-stricken fields of corn, Sudan grass or cane, since poisonings may result.
- 3 - Have ewes treated for internal parasites before the fall breeding season.
- 4 - Examine cattle on pasture for lice, ring worm, warts and lumpy jaw, and have affected animals treated before winter confinement.
- 5 - Set up a workable mastitis program for dairy herds before winter confinement season.
- 6 - Isolate newly arrived feeder cattle and feeder lambs for a reasonable period before allowing them to run with the home herds and flocks.
- 7 - Have all fall pigs properly vaccinated against hog cholera and against erysipelas, in areas where the disease has been a problem. The veterinarian will know when this should or should not be done.
- 8 - Rid farm buildings of rats and mice.
- 9 - Continue or complete co-operative area control efforts against brucellosis.
- 10 - Avoid feeding hay, silage or feed grains which have a high mold content.

Seed Fuller Stands... BIGGER YIELDS

McCormick M'F Drills Make Seeding and Fertilizing One Cost Reducing Job!!

McCormick Feeds Meter Grain With Unequaled Precision To Get You Better Stands With Less Seed!!

★ Only McCORMICK GRAIN DRILLS Give You So Many Crop Making - Cost Cutting Advantages

Fluted or double-run feed can be supplied for M and MF drills. Both types of feed measure out small, medium, or large seeds — in practically any desired quantity — with yield-boosting accuracy.

Low, pneumatic-tired wheels make possible smoother, faster travel in the field and on the highway. They turn on trouble-free, tapered roller bearings.

"Epon Ester" paint protects grain drill hopper. It's highly resistant to damage by sharp objects, weathering, or the corrosive action of fertilizer.

Quick-acting power lift raises the furrow openers in a space of less than seven feet—drops them the instant the control lever is tripped. Furrow openers are raised to a uniform height regardless of seeding depth.

Handy screw crank gives the operator accurate control of the planting depth. Depth adjustments can be made with the furrow openers in either raised or lowered position.

Hydraulic control. All M and MF grain drills can be obtained with the Remote-Control cylinder with 8-inch stroke. This remote control cylinder enables the operator to raise, lower, or regulate the working depth of the furrow openers from the tractor seat. Remote cylinder is easily attached or removed for use with other machines.

Choice of furrow openers. Single-disk double-disk, or spring-hoe openers can be had to suit practically all seeding conditions. Accurate land measure records the area sown. It disengages when the furrow openers are raised — registers only the actual acreage seeded.

Welded-steel frame eliminates the need for corner iron gussets, and truss rods — makes possible a stronger but lighter-weight drill that lasts years longer.

Sturdy tractor hitch is designed for true trailing. On larger drills, the tractor hitch supports the frame throughout its full length.

Simple drive mechanism assures smooth operation. The roller chain drives from the ground wheels to the drive shaft are shielded from dirt and trash.

Special equipment. Grass seed attachment, marker attachment, and other extras can be supplied which extend the usefulness of McCormick grain drills.

See Drive to Start Food Stamp Program

Plan Would Help Move Surplus to Nation's Markets

Washington —(AP)— Administration farm leaders are expecting the strongest drive in many years this year to get Congress to direct the government to set up a food stamp plan.

Such a plan was used in many areas of the country in the late 30's and early 40's to help move surplus foods into market baskets of low-income groups. Under it, designated relief clients got government stamps good for the purchase of surplus foods at grocery stores.

The plan was abandoned when demands of World War II eliminated surpluses.

The administration has opposed reestablishment of the plan, contending it is an ineffective and costly method of moving surpluses to the needy. It prefers the present program under which state and locally designated relief clients can obtain surplus commodities from supplies donated by the agriculture department. Distribution is made through local relief agencies.

Department officials have been rounding up information on the stamp plan in the hope of being able to use it to convince Congress that it should not be re-established.

A number of congressmen from both major parties have sponsored stamp plan bills in recent sessions of Congress.

Urge Benson To Maintain Dairy Props

Madison — The president of Wisconsin Farm Bureau has advised Agriculture Sec. Benson to face the facts and admit that he hasn't enough friends in congress to reduce dairy price supports this year.

Percy Hardiman, Hartland, in a letter to Benson urged him to keep 1958 price supports at the 1958 level. There has been speculation that he would lower them before April 1 when the new marketing year begins.

"We for the most part have very vigorously supported you and your philosophy," Hardiman wrote. "If the support level were changed, 'it would force us to go all out for a 3-year market average plan, which I don't think we have a chance of getting with our present congress. . . ."

If Benson risks the anger of congress by lowering price supports, "we could get something worse than we have now in this country for our dairymen," Hardiman wrote.

The bureau president repeated the organization's support of a dairy health standards bill in congress which would permit a free flow of Wisconsin milk to interstate markets.

Milk Prices Show Drop

February Revenue Lowest for Month in Past 4 Years

Prices received for milk sold by Wisconsin farmers in February averaged the lowest for the month since 1955 while the level of prices paid by farmers was the highest on record for any month, according to the federal - state crop reporting service for Wisconsin.

Index figures from the February price report for Wisconsin show prices received by farmers for milk averaged 4 per cent below a year ago. The milk prices averaged $3.25 per hundred pounds for milk of average test. This price was 13 cents below the February, 1958 average.

Other Decreases

Other decreases in the Wisconsin farm price indexes were 13 per cent for poultry, 3 per cent for eggs, and 6 per cent for crops. The February meat animal price index was only 1 per cent above a year ago.

Wisconsin's index of all farm commodity prices received by farmers was off 2 1/2 per cent from February of last year while the index of prices paid shows a gain of nearly 3 per cent. February marks the first month since December, 1955 that the index of prices received was below the corresponding month of the previous year.

Co-op Wants Probe of Milk Prices

Committee Supports Request, Outlook for Investigation Good

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — One of the state's largest milk producer cooperatives is demanding an inquiry into the price spread of dairy products, as well as practices of manufacturers, distributors, brokers and others.

The request has come from the Pure Milk Products cooperative. The assembly committee on agriculture has written a joint resolution to authorize such an investigation. The outlook for favorable action on the resolution is good, according to legislative sources.

Proper Practices

The resolution as offered by the cooperative strongly implies its belief that there are proper pricing practices.

The resolution asserted: "It has long been common knowledge that the price mark-up of dairy products by manufacturers, distributors, wholesalers, retailers and brokers of dairy products over the prices paid for such products to the producing dairy farmer are excessive, exorbitant and unfair and the practices employed in accomplishing these price spreads are questionable if not in violation of unfair trade practice, anti-monopoly and anti-trust laws, and that by reason of such practices the dairy farmer has not and is not receiving his fair share of the ultimate prices paid for his dairy products by the consumer."

Park Purchase

The land contract in which the city buys 6.336 acres from Joseph Doerfler for a park was approved.

Doerfler will receive $9,500, half now and the rest in December or January, depending on the condition of city finances. He asks no interest. The land is south of Hoover avenue along Lawe street extended.

The board told Duszynski it will decide on his request for $700,000 for sewer construction at its March 31 meeting. The money, the works director said, would get the city started toward meeting commitments it has made at the northwest, northeast and far southeast areas of the city for sanitary and storm sewer work. The city will have to sell bonds to pay for the work.

Timing of sale of bonds for the Edison school, the south side swimming pool and more sewer work will have to be considered, it was said.

School Land

Director of Public Works Duszynski reported the school board wants time to select a new site for a northwest side junior high school.

The board, he said he was told, originally wanted a site north of Highway 41 and since seeing his drainage district studies in that area are convinced their original position was correct.

Works board members have repeatedly rejected the Joseph Hughes property, the site recommended by the school board. The price, $4,200 an acre, has been called too high and it was said the sewer study shows the site is not central.

All study of the Frank Letts' offer of land an undetermined distance north of 41 was held up because of the school board's latest request, Duszynski said. Letts wants $1,200 an acre.

Group Life Policy

It was decided to extend the group life insurance contract to include water department employees, but not park department workers.

The contract, with Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, gives all employees under direct control of the city council $2,000 life policies for $2.30 a month, the cost shared equally by the employee and the city.

Adding water employees to the common pool would not raise the general rate, but addition of park workers will, it was said.

Park employees could be added in two ways, both rejected by the board. One the only local auctioneer and would put them in the common pool, raising the cost to $2.36 for the job.

City Work Bids Indicate Higher Costs

Most Basic Prices Handed Works Board Hiked Over Last Year

The apparent low bidders in Tuesday's opening of bids for city work this season indicate improvements will cost more this year than last.

The type of improvement, the apparent low bidder and his price, and the price last year are:

Asphalt surfacing, Courtney and Plummer, Inc., Neenah, $8.57 a ton, $8.17 a ton last year.

Asphalt patching, Courtney and Plummer, $20 a ton, $24 a ton last year.

Asphalt binder, Courtney and Plummer, $8.57 a ton, $8.17 last year.

Curb and gutter, Kuehl and Sommers, $1.80 a lineal foot, $1.69 a lineal foot last year.

(The Kimberly village board recently refused to open bids by this firm because, the board said, it was not a responsible bidder.)

Grading, Floyd Acheson, 48 cents per cubic yard of excavation, 54 cents per cubic yard last year.

Crushed stone, Landwehr and Hackl, $1.61 a ton, to $1.56 a ton last year.

Stone chips, Courtney and Plummer, $2.10 a ton, $2.25 a ton last year.

Sidewalk, Kuehl and Sommers, 32 cents per square foot for 4-inch walk, 33 cents a year ago, and 42 cents per square foot for 6-inch walk, 40 cents a year ago.

Brennan-Rolland Excavators, Cato, was the apparent low bidder in quoting about 40 prices involved in sewer trenching, laying pipe and building manholes. The company quoted a total of $96,330 for the hypothetical amount of work called for in the specifications.

A tabulation by the engineering department will determine how the sewer work prices compare to last year.

All bids were referred to the department for tabulation. Contracts will be discussed at the next board meeting, March 31.

In the asphalt bidding, Rasmussen Construction company did not quote on so-called state specifications, the type the city has followed the last several years. Rasmussen quoted on Warrenite-Bituthine, $11 a ton, and another wearing surface that also requires a binder course at $10.75 a ton.

Badger Highways company, Inc., Menasha, the third bidder, quoted only on state specs, $9.15 a ton.

There were seven curb and gutter bidders, five grading bidders, three stone and chips bidders (with Badger Highways offering prices at their Menasha quarry), seven sidewalk bidders and four sewer work bidders.

In addition F. Hurlbut company, Green Bay, and Concrete Pipe corporation, gave 56 prices each for various types of pipe. The low bidder will be determined by tabulation.

Empire Petroleum company, Sheboygan, was low bidder to furnish between 10,000 and 15,000 gallons of gasoline. It offered 90 octane gas, 12.67 cents a gallon, with a 1 per cent discount. There were eight bidders.

Bid for School

James P. Meiers, 926 W. Wisconsin avenue, who expressed interest in bidding for the Whispering Pines school land when the school is abandoned, will be notified when the matter is under consideration, it was ruled.

Appleton Coated Paper company earlier expressed similar interest. The school board has said it will abandon the school for school purposes next fall, but may want to retain the building for storage for another year.

BAND FERTILIZER PLACEMENT

FOR DRILL PLANTERS

For application of high-analysis fertilizer, you need wide separation of seed and fertilizer bands. With a side band attachment on your Allis-Chalmers Drill Planter, you can place fertilizer below and to the side of your seed (corn, cotton, soybean, sorghum).

Fertilizer is near enough for roots to reach it easily — yet far enough away to prevent burning. Plants use band-placed fertilizer more efficiently. You get a more uniform stand. Crops grow faster, mature earlier, yield more.

If you plan heavy fertilization of your row crops, ask about the side band attachment for your Allis-Chalmers Drill Planter.

Board Moves Against Court Reform Bill

Little Chute Body Authorizes Justice To Attend Hearing

Little Chute — The village board Tuesday night adopted a resolution opposing a proposed bill which would change the court system, virtually eliminating the justice of the peace in small communities. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the League of Municipalities and to legislators. Justice of the Peace Anton "Casey" Jansen, appeared before the board and explained the bill would practically eliminate any powers the justice has in the village.

To Attend Hearing

The board authorized Jansen to attend a joint assembly and senate hearing on the measure at Madison March 25. The resolution contends that the present setup of a local justice court works out fine in that it saves time for arresting officers and also helps out the village treasury with fines.

In other action the building and grounds committee reported that drawings for the remodeling work on the proposed relocation of the police station in the basement of the village hall will be turned over to the architect so plans and specifications can be drawn up.

It is expected that bids are to be called for at the first meeting in April.

New Squad Car

The police committee reported that it expects to be ready to advertise for bids on a new squad car at the first April meeting with bids to be in by the April 21 session. Purchase of two tires for the present squad car was allowed.

The ordinance committee announced a new ordinance was drawn up concerning parking on the west side of Pine street near the post office. The new rule was not passed because there were several changes to be made in wording.

The major tone of the ordinance is that it provides for 5 minute parking on the west side of the street for a certain distance south of the Main avenue intersection.

Two Accidents Reported to Kimberly Police

Kimberly — Cars driven by Robert Welhouse, 19, 509 Second street, Kimberly, and Thomas Beach, 40, route 1, Menasha, collided at Walnut and First streets.

Both drivers told police high snowbanks limited their visibility and caused the crash. Total property damage was estimated at $150.

A vehicle driven by Merlin Moderson, 30, 1807 Walden avenue, Appleton, was struck on the rear by a yellow cab driven by Calvin Kippenhan, 35, on W. Kimberly avenue. Moderson told police he stopped to pick up a pedestrian and the cab hit the rear of his car. Total damage was $475.

2-Car Mishap Monday Reported in Kaukauna

Kaukauna — Slippery road conditions were said to be a contributing factor in a 2-car accident at Sixth street and Sullivan avenue about 3:15 p. m. Monday causing proper property damage but no injuries.

According to police, a car driven by Mrs. Nadine Moderson, 10 Armstrong court, Kaukauna, was traveling north on Sullivan when her car collided with a vehicle driven by Robert Wurdinger, 48, 510 W. Sixth street, Kaukauna, which was going east on Sixth street.

home at 140 tons. There are 56 wheels mounted under the building to make for a legal axle load.

The moving job is being done at this time of the year because the ground is frozen. Plans are to proceed with the building from its site directly west on Kimberly avenue, then through the Holy Name church parking lot on the west side of the church and through the open land at the rear of the church to a lot on Maes avenue. This will eliminate much travel on village streets which have been made narrow by snowstorms.

A bulldozer was on hand to move mounds of snow out of the way for trucks pulling the building.

Dominican Sisters who teach at the parish school are presently staying at a double apartment home on S. Railroad street which the parish has rented for them.

A modern "L" shaped home is planned for the sisters. There will be accommodations for 20 nuns.

The former convent was built in 1911 and was located directly east of the parish school. The new convent will occupy the site as well as a lot directly east.

May Have Only One Contested Race in Election

Little Chute — With the Friday deadline for filing nomination papers approaching, it appears there will be only one contested race in the spring election for village officials.

Nick Vanderpas will seek reelection as assessor as will Justice of the Peace Anton Jansen. Robert Nechodom is running again for the post of constable.

Judge Under Fire for Tossing Dice to Determine Sentence

Miami, Fla. — A municipal judge who rolled dice to set a jail term for an accused gambler has come under fire from the Spanish-American Bar association.

The group adopted a resolution Monday asking Mayor Robert King High to fire Judge Mitchell Goldman because he rolled dice before sentencing Tommy Jackson, a Negro.

Goldman rolled a one and a three and sentenced Jackson to 30 days. He freed him five days later.

The bar association's resolution said Goldman violated requirements of dignity. Said Goldman: "I don't believe in putting on a floor show but I think that a judge who shows no sense of humor grows stale pretty quickly."

Uniform Town Road Naming Plan Okayed

All Thoroughfares Will Keep Designation Across Boundaries; Optional Numbering

A uniform system for naming town roads throughout the county and an optional system for numbering farms, homes and business places in rural areas was unanimously approved Tuesday by the Outagamie county board.

Freedom Supv. Joseph Weyers, head of the board's agricultural committee, explained the road naming attempt started about three years ago.

NEA Names Helble To Position as Legislation Delegate

Herbert H. Helble, principal of Appleton High school, has been designated legislative representative of the Wisconsin Education association in the Eighth Congressional district, the National Education association announced.

J. L. McCaskill, executive secretary of the NEA legislative commission, stated representatives will be responsible for all federal legislative activities affecting education. They will work along the lines of the legislative objectives set by the commission which is made up of nine leading educators appointed by the NEA president.

The NEA's federal legislative program this year focuses on one primary objective — enactment of legislation which provides sizeable federal grants to the states for school construction and teachers' salaries.

Board OK's Committee Purchase of Generator

The Outagamie county board Tuesday agreed to let its special building committee buy a 150 kilowatt diesel generator for the new county hospital.

Ordinarily the board would pass on the purchase, but Chairman Alvin Fulcer explained that a time factor to get 50 per cent federal aid under the civil defense program and the complexity of the equipment made it necessary for the committee to act.

The generator will supply power to necessary hospital facilities, such as the heating plant, sewage pump and some lights, and the county police station.

Six bids were received, ranging from $14,124 to $22,544 from firms in Milwaukee, Green Bay and Neenah. The equipment includes the diesel motor and the generator.

Supervisors Refuse Year's Grace to Retiring Worker

The Outagamie county board Tuesday declined to make an exception to its retirement at 65 policy and indicated that the policy might be strengthened to allow no exceptions.

The board in the past has made exceptions when retirement at 65 would work a hardship on the employee or on the county.

The question arose last month when Grover Stanelle, a driver's helper for the highway department, appealed from the highway committee's denial of an extension for him. The board then decided to wait until Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson for her husband at the Tuesday could give them information day session.

No Welfare Group

"We are a service organization and have to be very careful that we do not become a welfare agency," Brownson declared. He added that careful consideration of Stanelle's request had been made by the highway committee before the board declined to grant a year's extension.

There are two highway department men who have been granted extensions by the county board. One of them is on his second and has indicated he will not reapply. The board's policy on the question has been to grant a maximum of three extensions — on an annual basis.

Appleton Supv. Andrew Jimos asked board consent to hear made exceptions when retirement at 65 would work a hardship on the employee or on the county.

Paul Kostka objected. (For a county.)

The board then decided to wait until Highway Commissioner Clarence Brownson for her husband at the Tuesday could give them information day session.

although Grand Chute has been working on the project for five or six years and really got going last June when the board approved the move.

All towns, after Tuesday's board action, must carry the same road names when the road runs across a town line. Formerly, a road might be called Smith in one town and Jones after it crossed the line. This led to confusion for firemen, policemen and emergency vehicles.

Complicated Numbers

The numbering system, although not mandatory, would further aid firemen, policemen and civil defense. Weyers pointed out. Ordinarily, the state has indicated, numbering works best starting from the northeast section of the county where the section numbers start.

The numbering system, Weyers said, is complicated. "What happened on one town road was that everyone had a Cemetery road — after that, the ones we ran into most often were Town Hall road and School road," Weyers explained.

Grand Chute Supv. Arthur Lecker said all roads in Grand Chute have been renamed so they do not conflict with Appleton. Also, Lecker added, the roads will be numbered to correspond with Appleton so that each residence will have a number by July.

Bovina Objects

Bovina Supv. Ervin Conradt said he wouldn't go along with the naming system unless Ellington would change some of the names. "The way it looks, Ellington got all the preference."

"We'll have to reeducate everybody in Bovina if you change the names of some of those roads. They named one road Pit and the only reason is that there used to be a gravel pit on it. Nobody in Bovina will know what road that is," Conradt complained.

"That's because you were late — Ellington got their names in first," Weyers commented.

"We used Pit road because we couldn't think of anything else and you can change it if you want to," added Center Supv. Harold Schmeichel.

"I think this is a wonderful idea," commented Appleton Supv. Fred Krause. "All you need now is to have everybody in the county wear a button with the number of their house and name of the road on it."

Council Approves Resolution for $630,000 Bonds

Intended for New Grade School;
Establish New Dumping Area

Menasha — The initial resolution calling for $630,000 bonds for school construction said the building would not be so large as to obstruct view of Lake Butte des Morts, and that the project would not alter the drainage scheme of the city.

Coughlin Rather
and remodeling was approved Monday by the city council.

Next steps will be preparing the ordinance detailing method of repayment of the bonds, which will mature serially, and setting a levy.

The bonds will help finance construction of a new grade school on Sixth street and remodeling of Butte des Morts school into a junior high school.

The Sixth street school will accommodate the elementary pupils from the area now served by Butte des Morts school.

Job Approved
Remodeling of Butte des Morts would begin this summer, with the building to remain a grade school until the new building is finished.

In the past two weeks, the construction and remodeling project has been approved by the board of education, Menasha city council and Menasha town board.

Two councilmen — Thomas Coughlin and Lee Rather — voted against receiving and filing the minutes of the board of education's March 9 meeting.

Coughlin said "I'd like to discuss a few things on these minutes with the board of education. It's nothing I would like to bring up on the floor now."

Will Meet With Board
Mayor R. G. DuCharme said he will set up a meeting of the council with the board of education, possibly next week, so the items challenged can be explored.

Notice was received by the city that the United States Coast Guard plans to construct a steel bulkhead on the north bank of the canal above the locks and a small building.

Police Department's Budget Questioned on New Motorcycle Issue

Replacement Purchase Denied;
Repair of Present One Approved

Menasha — Is the police department's budget "stacked," so that desired items can be council unanimously approved. During the discussion on the new cycle, the mayor commented that "the budget may be stacked if we can squeeze out the $177 for the cycle so easily. Some departments spend all their funds when the end of the year comes, while others have balances. We like to have them turn back the excess funds."

Opponents to the new cycle at the $2,462 price, were led by Ald. Coughlin, who asked, "I just wonder if we aren't spending money foolishly." He said the cycle had about 29,000 miles last week. The city, Coughlin believes, may get double the present mileage out of the vehicle.

"Bargain Better"
The $650 transistor radio for the new motorcycle was questioned, since the trade-in allowance on the present radio would be $20. "Anyone in this audience could bargain better with local merchants and get a better price. We have two police cars, which could be on the scene of an emergency long before the bike arrives."

Ald. Klein commented, "I never have seen anyone take such an interest in such a small amount as to go to neighboring cities to check on one item," referring to Coughlin's query of motorcycle dealers in other cities.

"This (the cycle) was proposed in the budget and approved unanimously. If the expenditure was not warranted or if the city wasn't going ahead with it, why wasn't it

Guidance Center Progress Told to Community Council

Menasha — Community council members were brought up to date on the county guidance center, marriage counseling, housing for the aged and welfare catalog projects at their dinner meeting Tuesday noon at Hotel Menasha.

William Herziger, health and welfare division chairman, reported the county board last fall provided $38,000 for the guidance center staff and that private means were providing the cost to remodel the former television studio of WJAM for a center headquarters.

The center also will have a headquarters at Oshkosh in Mercy hospital. Lease details now are being worked out for the television studio rental and the rental cost is to be provided through contributions, Herziger mentioned.

Directing the guidance center will be a staff of a fulltime psychiatrist, a psychologist and a psychiatric social worker. Applications for these posts now are being received by the welfare board of the county board.

11 on Board
Eleven persons will make up the board governing the guidance center, five county board members, five lay people and the eleventh will be the psychiatrist directing the guidance center.

Twelve names have been submitted from the county for the five lay posts on the committee, Herziger reported. A meeting has been set for next Tuesday night of the guidance center committee with the county board committee.

Mrs. George Hrubecy reported on the welfare catalog idea which is to aid organizations needing financial help or workers with other organizations having those items to offer. It is hoped to have the catalog completed late this spring.

The project of housing for senior citizens is being deferred, Herziger reported, until after a meeting in April with a group interested in the problems of the aged. There are other projects for the senior citizens underway beside that of housing and after the April meeting will come the decision as to which direction the Community council's health and welfare division will move.

Marriage Counseling
Reporting on the marriage counseling project was Mrs. Selden Spencer who told of a meeting with a Wausau marriage counselor who outlined the activities and setup of such a counseling service. She listed Milwaukee, Madison, Racine, Kenosha, LaCrosse, Sheboygan and Wausau as communities now having such counseling services and mentioned such a program could be shared with Oshkosh and Appleton.

The counseling would be available not only in divorce proceedings but at other times. Clergymen as well as welfare workers frequently are consulted by persons for such counseling but many times their advice is not followed nor are they often consulted by persons needing such counseling.

Such a service could be helpful in making a dent in the mental illness problem, she quoted the counselor as saying.

Moliere's Age-Old Comedy Timeless, Thespians Prove

Neenah — Moliere's "The Doctor in Spite of Himself," a farce comedy written more than 350 years ago, proved timeless and of considerable appeal to today's audiences when presented Tuesday night by the Neenah High school Thespians club.

This play and a shorter experimental one by Thornton Wilder, "Pullman Car Hiawatha," will be presented again at 7:45 tonight at the high school auditorium. About 350 watched the opening night's performance.

Moliere's comedy concerns a woodcutter, played ably by George Hrubecy, who is palmed off unknowingly as a doctor by revenge-seeking Sue Hammil. He denies being a doctor but Miss Hammil, in telling others he was a doctor, intimated he wanted it to be a secret.

Comedy situations over the mixup develop and the cast and audience have a good time in unraveling and straightening out the plot.

Wilder Play
Thornton Wilder is best known for his sceneryless "Our Town" and the same idea is carried out in "Pullman Car Hiawatha." Ronald Fuss as narrator and stage manager ties together the many incidents happening aboard the pullman car as it passes through the night.

Cast members include passengers in their berths, inanimate objects such as a small crossroad community, a field, three hours on the clock, two angels and various planets in the sky.

Through the play Wilder is establishing the relationship between God, man, time and space.

by eliminating the motorcycle.

Klein chided Coughlin for "insinuating that the other nine aldermen are not interested in the tax dollar." Coughlin replied no other persons were mentioned in his comments on the cycle expenditure.

Students Visit
Ald. Rather said fund transfers within departmental budgets still must be approved by the council.

The council meeting was visited by about 60 Menasha High school students, welcomed by the mayor and invited to return. "I hope you become interested in politics," the mayor said, and discussed briefly the city governmental structure.

DuCharme said a council committee still is working on dividing the city into 10 wards so that each alderman would represent a ward, and so the city would be represented by 10 persons on the Winnebago county board of supervisors, instead of the present five.

Advertising Increases Living Standard, Club Speaker Says

Neenah — "To be for or against advertising today is like being for or against the weather," Prof. Harry Deane Wolfe said Tuesday afternoon. Guest speaker for the Women's Tuesday club, the professor of commerce and journalism at the University of Wisconsin said, "Advertising is a function of market," in an academic definition.

He described the media of advertising as one of the many selling processes. We think it is the most efficient and lowest cost method of selling, he said.

Answering the question title of his talk, "What Advertising Is Doing to Us," Prof. Wolfe said, "It is making all of us richer. It is increasing our standard of living." He pointed-out in 1958 consumers spent more than ever before and our national wealth is going up on an average of 4 per cent each year.

As well as spending more money, savings are increasing each year, he said. In 1948, $11 billion was saved, while in 1958 $21 billion was saved, he illustrated. About 6.7 per cent of income was saved in 1958, the speaker said.

Means of Informing
Advertising serves as a means of informing people about goods, Prof. Wolfe said. If you don't know about the goods, you can't spend money on them, and consequently, you can't employ people to produce the goods. "The more we spend, the more people we employ," he said.

The three components of effective advertising are to inform, let people know the goods are available, to make it believable and to impel you to buy the goods, listed the speaker.

On the average, about 5 per cent of sales is spent on advertising, Prof. Wolfe stated. A company sponsoring a half hour television show for a year, with three minutes of commercial advertising for each half hour, will spend between four and five million dollars, he illustrated.

The necessity of a manufacturer to continue once he has started advertising was illustrated in a principle called the "leaky bucket," by Prof. Wolfe. He called it the lack of loyalty to any one brand. Anyone who has built up a business on a advertising "would lose out" unless he keeps getting new customers to replace old customers switching to different brands, he said.

Leaky Brain
Another principle, which he called "the leaky brain," represents the amount of knowledge a housewife has of nationally advertised goods. "The average housewife knows 1,100 pieces of advertising information," You can't seem to get more than that in. If you stuff something new in,

Project requirements also will be discussed. Girls enrolled in 4-H clothing projects have been invited to attend the meetings.

pleton High school, spoke on life in Italy. He was accompanied by John Bubolz, who spent last summer in Turkey.

Bubolz showed slides and spoke on his experiences. The annual recognition dinner for Roosevelt school teachers is scheduled for April 28 under the chairmanship of Mrs. August Peters. An election day bake sale will be held April 7. A fathers' night program is planned for May 20.

Florida Vacation

Proper Care Keeps Blooms Fresh Longer
Oshkosh — Flowering plants and cut flowers are a traditional part of the Easter observance. Wise purchasing and proper care will make the buds last longer.

When purchasing flowering plants, the number of buds on the plant generally determines the price. Unopened buds usually are higher in price, but the blooming period will be longer. A look at the lower leaves indicates the healthfulness of a plant.

With flowering plants, it is not uncommon to water the plants daily as the soil should be moist at all times. One of the common errors of home care is lack of water.

For cut flowers, re-cut the stems three-fourths to one inch shorter after purchasing and place in warm water, which aids in quicker absorption.

Bloom life can be extended if flowers are placed in a cool place overnight. Recutting the stems and changing water daily prevents bacteria from clogging the stems. A cut flower food may be added, which eliminates the daily attention of cutting and changing water.

Scout Leaders Name 10 Delegates, Plan May Tea

The tea is scheduled for May 2 and will be for the benefit of a round-up team going to Colorado. "Welcome to Hawaii" was selected as theme for the April 7 intermediate Scout banquet to be held at Our Savior's Lutheran church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harold Urban.

Threat of World War Endangers Efforts Toward European Union

BY GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

New York — As one looks at a list of the European agencies established to bring Western Europe into a union, it becomes clear that much has been accomplished in recent years, some of it futile, in the direction of joint operations among countries which had been at war.

The United Nations is worldwide and includes, Asian, African and other non-European groups. Europe's problems are separate and distinct, because for centuries it was European countries which dominated the world not only physically and materially but as a civilizing force.

Two world wars shattered Europe and forced upon it new systems of life and new concepts of government. However, modern commerce and industry, the movement of men and money require better organization than small nations can provide. The need for an economic, if not a political union for Europe, has become obvious, but the techniques for achieving the ultimate goal of such a Europe as existed under Charles V or Napoleon do not readily present themselves in this period of so-called democracy. The resistance is not as much nationalistic as it is economic.

The public relations firm of Hill and Knowlton, having gone into the international business, has issued a brief directory of "Europe's 'alphabet' agencies and agreements," which I found to be interesting reading because it provides an index to the effort toward union.

Economic Group
The European Economic Community, (EEC), for instance, is the more formal name for the European Common Market (ECM). This consists of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. It is more than a customs union and less than a super-government. Nevertheless, it has quite a set-up, an assembly, a council of ministers, a court of justice, and a common market commission. It has two advisory groups: an economic and social committee and a monetary committee and three operating groups: the European Investment Bank, a development fund and a European social fund.

Along similar lines is Euratom—The European Atomic Energy Community—formed by the same nations that formed the common market. Euratom encourages the use of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. It pools knowledge. Both the ECM and Euratom have their headquarters in Brussels, Belgium.

The most ambiguous of these trends toward an economic unification of Europe and the rest of the world is GATT which is short for General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. This includes 37 nations on all continents and seeks stabilization and tariff reductions. The effect of GATT upon American industries is extremely dubious.

Many believe that it could even be harmful. NATO does on the military side what all these organizations try to do on the economic side. The North Atlantic Treaty organization is a military union among European countries opposed to the imperialistic efforts of Soviet Russia. Its headquarters are in Paris. Alongside of NATO is the COCOM, the coordinating committee, which operates to coordinate strategic trade controls.

These are agencies which are closely associated with United States. A number of agencies exist which originate in the United Nations, their special purpose being to strengthen the economy or to improve social conditions in Europe. Such organizations as the International Monetary Fund, the International Labor Organization, the Food and Agriculture Organization report directly to the United Nations.

Were there a quarter of a century of real peace, it is probable that these various agencies could be amalgamated into a Western European union which could be the strongest region on earth. A general war, however, would shatter them all and leave the world worse than it ever has been.

Montonati One Of 9 Lettermen On Ripon Quint

Ripon — Richard M. Montonati, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Montonati, 701 London street, Menasha, was one of nine basketball letter winners announced today at Ripon college.

Montonati also won a varsity football letter last fall after earning freshman numerals in football, basketball and baseball.

A sophomore, the former St. Mary cager scored 204 points during his first varsity season, for an average of 9.3 points per game. He also proved invaluable as a rebounder.

He started the season slowly but became a regular well before midseason and began reaching his scoring stride late in the campaign.

He is secretary of his fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega. A St. Mary High school graduate, Montonati earned letters in football, basketball and baseball in high school and was an all-conference selection in football and basketball.

New Home Permit

Wolf River Names Two For Town Chairman

Freemont — Town of Wolf River voters nominated Franklin Neuschaefer, the incumbent, and Charles Hahn for the town chairman post at Saturday's caucus.

ke for west side supervisor, Eugene Lehman for east side supervisor, Willard Kempf for assessor, Henry Malerhafer and Paul Metz for justices of the peace, Ewald Hempel and Clifford Much for constables and Mrs. George Wohlt for clerk. Fred Wentzel, incumbent treasurer, is opposed by Raymond Koepp.

New Camera Takes Photos of Eye Movement

Used in Reading Studies Taken at OSC Campus School

Oshkosh — Eye movements of 225 children in the Oshkosh State college campus school were photographed as the children read last week a new "reading eye camera" as part of a national research study concerned with gaining a better understanding of the reading process.

Oshkosh State college is one of 85 colleges and universities in the United States and Canada which is participating in the program, according to Dr. Jean I. Caudle, who is directing the study at Oshkosh. The camera is one designed to photograph beads of light reflected from the eyes of a reader. The photographs are made on a moving film which produces a graph. The graph will show the reader's oculomotor efficiency and will indicate visual discomfort, nervousness, vocalization, and other factors which affect ability to read with comfort, enjoyment, and understanding.

Results of Study

Through the study, it is hoped that the classroom teacher of reading will be supplied with an increased insight into the nature of the reading act, increased knowledge of how a child learns to read and a set of performance standards to measure a reader's efficiency.

Following an evaluation of photographs taken of the eye movements of readers, a controlled reading program, designed to develop proficiency in needed skills, will be established, Dr. Caudle said.

A machine called a controlled reader will be used in the program. With this machine, the operator can control the number of words exposed per minute and also control left to right movement. A controlled reader was purchased for the college in connection with the study and will become a part of the college's reading development equipment.

Youth Suffers Possible Head Injury in Crash

Oshkosh — Charles E. Barnstable, 17, of 514 Lake street, Neenah, suffered a possible head injury when the car in which he was riding blew a tire and spun into a snowbank about 11:30 p.m. Monday on County Trunk A in the town of Neenah.

Barnstable complained of head pains and was taken to Theda Clark hospital by a passing motorist, Jim E. Ely, 17, of 616 Western avenue, Neenah, where he was held for observation.

The injured youth was a passenger in a car driven by Herbert Schmick, 18, of 513 Western avenue, Neenah. Two other passengers were uninjured.

Menasha Rotary Club Hears Scouter Talk On Explorer Program

Menasha — "The New Look in the Explorer Program" was the topic this noon of Fred Sordahl, Appleton, Tri-City Boy Scout council field executive, to the Menasha Rotary club at Hotel Menasha.

Rotary President Wes Saeker told the club last week the board of directors approved a $20 contribution to the Community council to help send several students to the annual governor's conference in Madison.

H. L. Sherman, Harold Bachmann and Ray Fink were named the nominating committee. Two three-year directorships will be vacated this year.

At last week's program, two Menasha high school students Doug Russell and Jon Pekel, reviewed the activities of last year's Badger Boys' state.

Honor Two Saints At Musical Program

Menasha — Pupils of St. Patrick Grade school will present a musical program in honor of Saints Patrick and Joseph at 7:30 p.m. Thursday in the school gymnasium.

Scheduled are nine selections by the school chorus, made up of third to eighth grades; two accordion pieces played by Mary Kay Dorschner and James Chavet; and songs by the lower four grades.

New School Costs Highest in State, Taxpayer Study Shows

Madison, Huntley Provide Most Square Feet Per Pupil

Appleton's newest public schools—Madison and Huntley—cost more per normal student enrollment and encompass more square feet per student than any other new schools in the state, a survey indicates.

Huntley also is the only new elementary school in the state with a separate gymnasium and auditorium and the only school with a cafeteria, in addition to either a gym or auditorium.

However, Madison has the lowest construction cost per square foot while Huntley hits the mid point.

The comparative statistics are offered in a booklet, "School Construction Costs in Wisconsin," prepared by the Public Expenditure Survey of Wisconsin and cover elementary, junior high and high schools built throughout the state recently.

Six junior high schools, including Madison, were covered in the survey, which shows Madison, with a construction cost of $1,996 per normal student enrollment is considerably higher than the other schools. The next highest is John Audubon school in Milwaukee with a cost of $1,746 per student while the lowest is John Muir in Milwaukee with a cost of $1,457 per student.

Construction cost per square foot is $11.84 at Madison—the lowest of the schools covered. Next lowest is John Audubon in Milwaukee at $13.05 per square foot while highest is Franklin in Green Bay at $13.92—a spread of $2.08.

The data also shows Madison, with a 26-room, 600-student capacity has more square feet per student—169—than the other buildings studied. Next highest is Audubon a construction cost of $1,454 per student while Little Prairie school in the town of Troy is lowest at $567.

Square Feet

Huntley also is high with 115 square feet per student enrollment with the Waumandee school in Arcadia next highest at 114 square feet and Lena school at Lena lowest at 45 square feet.

The school, with a 22-teacher and 600-pupil capacity, has construction costs listed as $893,289 and total costs at $1,100,000.

Cost per square foot is among the lower of those considered — $12.89. Lowest is Magnolia Center school at Evansville at $6.13 per square foot and highest is the S. 67th street school in Milwaukee at $16.78 per square foot.

Also covered in the survey is Clovis Grove school, Menasha, which shows construction cost per pupil at $1,194, cost per square foot at $13.91, construction cost at $572,966 and total cost at $644,016. The school's normal enrollment of 480 and a normal teacher capacity of 16.

Remarking that Huntley was the only elementary school providing a separate gym, auditorium and cafeteria, the report states, "Milwaukee was the only other city to furnish either a gymnasium, auditorium or combination (except where multi-purpose rooms were used for these purposes). An auditorium was provided in two and a combination gymnasium-auditorium in a third school in Milwaukee. These were the three largest of five Milwaukee schools."

More Economy

The report concludes: "There is a wide variation in per pupil costs among all types of schools which suggests the possibility that adequate facilities could have been provided more economically in some communities."

"The most important factor in determining per pupil costs among the reporting schools was the area provided per pupil. The extent to which large area facilities such as auditoriums, gymnasiums and cafeterias were provided and also the reported normal enrollments per teacher station appeared to be important factors in per pupil costs."

The survey suggests large area facilities should be planned for multi-purpose use.
